CANCER GRANT RECEIVED—A grant of $4,050, given to Ulster County Tumor Clinic by the American Cancer Society, will be used to establish a Cancer Registry in this area, according to Dr. Frederick Elias, clinic director, who heads the program. He said Benedictine Hospital, Kingston Hospital and Ellenville Community Hospital have joined in expanding the Registry, and representatives of the three hospitals discussed standards and procedures to be followed at a recent meeting at the clinic. Among those attending (l-r) were: Mrs. Marjorie S. Millson, medical record librarian, Ellenville

Community Hospital; Dr. Elias; Mary Lou Smith, medical record librarian, Kingston Hospital; and Mrs. Curtis B. Bight, assistant medical record librarian, Benedictine Hospital. Plans call for the Registry to collect data on patients with cancer and to record the symptoms, treatment and causes of the disease to enable physicians to evaluate the efficiency of treatment and compare results in other communities. This will aid both diagnosis and treatment, as well as cancer research, through an annual report distributed to Ulster County physicians. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Yanks Hit Entrenched Viet Cong Near Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Helicopter-borne U.S. infantrymen pounded an entrenched Viet Cong force only 25 miles from Saigon today and overran the enemy bunkers in what a spokesman called "fast and furious action."

To the north, U.S. Marines fighting in mountain jungles just south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam reported killing 55 more North Vietnamese regulars to raise the number of enemy dead to 576 in eight days of hard fighting.

Over North Viet Nam, U.S. Air Force Thunderchiefs tangled with Communist MIG-17s in a fruitless one-minute exchange of fire during renewed raids on oil depots, railroads, barges and bridges.

The U.S. command announced that Australian troops had kicked off on a new clearing operation 38 miles southeast of Saigon and that the first small contingent of Thailand servicemen has arrived in the country.

The U.S. command also reported that a Navy A4 Skyhawk fighter-bomber from the carrier Oriskany was shot down over North Viet Nam today, the 306th plane lost in the air war over the north. The pilot bailed out at sea and was rescued about 35 miles north of Vinh.

U.S. spokesmen disclosed the loss in South Viet Nam of an L19 light observation plane about 100 miles southwest of Saigon and said both members of the two-man crew were killed.

Another light observation plane and a U.S. Army helicopter collided during Operation Hastings near the demilitarized zone. Three crew members of the helicopters were injured.

In the fighting 25 miles north of Saigon, several battalions of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division struck this afternoon against a dug-in Viet Cong force in the Ong Dong jungles.

The infantrymen, lifted into the area by helicopters, overran enemy bunkers almost at once. A spokesman said American casualties in the initial stages were light. He said the Communist losses were not yet reported but the infantrymen captured quantities of machine guns and ammunition.

At last report toward dark, the GIs were still in contact with the Viet Cong.

Fighting kept up also along the northern border where the

Resnick Assails North Viets Plan To Try Captives

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, (D-Ellenville) today denounced the apparent intention of the North Vietnamese government to try American soldiers held captive in North Viet Nam as so-called war criminals. The congressman was particularly disturbed, he said, "by the threatened disregard of the Geneva Convention which outlined proper treatment for war prisoners."

Noting that the American people would be outraged if the North Vietnamese perpetrate this hideous crime of executing the American soldiers, the congressman declared that "the American resolve to defend the South Vietnamese would be in no way lessened."

Toured Viet

Resnick, who made a trip to Viet Nam in December, is convinced that the United States must back the South Vietnamese to prevent the capture of South Viet Nam by an aggressive Communist force of the North. We must bear the burden of defending free people who request our help," the congressman declared, "or see freedom perish under the aggressive Communist onslaught throughout Asia."

"Those who dissent from the battle to insure democracy and freedom of determination to the South Vietnamese must understand that they sacrifice a noble people and a good cause. It should be clear to all rational men, he said, "that defending freedom and liberty is our duty."

Congress Hears Criticism Of Area's Two-Lane Span

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has been told that construction of a two-lane toll bridge across the Hudson River in 1963 between Newburgh and Beacon was "a colossal mistake."

John S. Stillman, former chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority, so described the structure in a letter to two House highway subcommittees which have been studying toll facilities in relation to the federal Interstate Highway System.

The Newburgh-Beacon bridge on Interstate 84 was mentioned in testimony at a joint hearing of the subcommittees last month as one of a few two-lane bridges on the Interstate Highway System.

It was cited as an example of the lack of control which the federal government has over the system under present law.

Stillman said standards of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads for the system call for at least four lanes and the Newburgh-Beacon bridge was planned originally as a four-lane structure. The bureau favored six lanes, but finally agreed to approve a four-lane, $40 million bridge, he said.

Stillman said that a majority of the State Bridge Authority agreed in November, 1959, on using 60 per cent federal aid money on the Newburgh-Beacon bridge and eventually freeing other Hudson River bridges from tolls.

But, he continued, in March, 1960, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced abandonment of the four-lane bridge and a decision to build a two-lane bridge exclusively with state money and bond financing.

Stillman said he never has been able to understand a "drastic reversal of position" by the Bureau of Public Roads in accepting the two-lane bridge for the interstate system.

"It seems to me that if a bridge is to carry an interstate highway its same design standards should be required irrespective of the method of financing," he said.

"The federal government, after all, cannot waive its responsibility for safety, defense needs and smooth traffic flow. It is obvious that a bridge of this size, with fast moving op-

Red China's Leaders Hint Intervention in Viet Nam

Rule Out Conference At Geneva

Rally Told: Will Fight to Victory

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

TOKYO (AP) — Red China's leaders spelled out in harsh words at a mammoth Peking rally Friday the only end they see to the war in Viet Nam — total Communist victory, possibly with Chinese intervention.

Speaking to a throng estimated by Japanese correspondents on the scene at nearly one million, President Liu Shao-chi declared:

Fight to End

"To fight on, to fight through to the end, to fight until the U.S. aggressors are totally and completely driven out of Viet Nam and final victory is won — this is the powerful answer of the Vietnamese people to the U.S. imperialist act of escalating its war of aggression to a new and still graver stage."

Asserting that "aggression against Viet Nam is aggression against China," Liu said "the Chinese people have made up their minds and have made every preparation to take such actions at any time and in any place as the Chinese and Vietnamese people deem necessary for dealing joint blows at the U.S. aggressors."

Some observers said the statement appeared to go a step further than previous declarations of support by China. In the past, it had been stressed that China would act if asked to do so by Hanoi.

Liu and the other speakers, according to Radio Peking broadcasts heard here, made

Losses Pile High As Airline Strike Enters 16th Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline strike talks remained earth-bound today. As the 16-day walkout piled up multimillion-dollar losses in wages and profits, negotiators could agree only that "It's a sad day."

Federal efforts to win a settlement and a proposal in Congress for the government to take over the five strikebound airlines did nothing to soften the deadlock. Negotiations resume at midmorning.

"I can't characterize the day as a really productive one, but it was not a wasted one either," said Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds. This was the nearest thing to optimism to emerge from the sluggish talks Friday.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., introduced legislation to declare a national emergency under which federal courts could order the strikers back to work and let the government run the airlines until the dispute is settled.

After Morse presented his proposal to the Senate Friday, chief airline negotiator William J. Curtin said, "It's a sad day when representatives of the American public are forced by the action of an irresponsible union to consider legislation

Shokan Man Is County's 28th Car Mishap Victim

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

Freeman Staff Writer

Ulster County authorities recorded the seventh highway death to occur in the area within 48 hours early today, when Robert Bruce Miller, 24, of Route 28, Shokan, was killed after his car careened out of control and crashed into a culvert before overturning several times.

Kingston State Police reported the fatality occurred at 2:30 a. m. on Route 28 at Upper Boiceville Road, Town of Olive.

Lt. Gorton Is Critical

Miller's death was the 28th highway fatality recorded in the county this year. Six persons lost their lives early Thursday in a two-car head-on collision on Route 209 at Spring Glen. Three other persons were severely injured in that mishap.

Meanwhile, hospital spokesmen reported the condition of Lieut. Leo Gorton, 44, of the Ellenville Police Department remained critical. He underwent major surgery at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie on Friday. Gorton was injured in a head-on collision on Route 52 about two miles west of Ellenville at 10:20 p. m. Thursday.

Parolman Leonard Quick, 25, also of Ellenville, who was riding with Gorton was reported in fair condition this morning at Ellenville Community Hospital.

Board Schedules Ellenville Vote On 12 Proposals

With the Central School District 2 W operating on an austerity budget, as the result of three defeats of proposed budgets by taxpayers, voters in the Ellenville area will be called upon to decide 12 proposals at the polls on Aug. 16.

The school district comprises the Towns of Warwarsing and Rochester, Ulster County, and Mamaroneck, Sullivan County.

Polls will be open from 12 noon until 8 p. m.

District officials noted that an austerity budget is one mandated by the State and it will be in operation no matter if the proposed extra propositions are defeated next month.

The propositions to be voted upon seek authority for the Board of Education to:

1. Operate the cafeteria and to expend a sum not to exceed $11,000 and raise the necessary tax therefor.

2. Provide for interscholastic athletic events and expend a sum not to exceed $10,000.

3. Rent four additional classrooms, hire five additional teachers.

Negro Wounded In Cleveland's East Side Riot

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A shot fired from a moving car wounded a Negro motorist critically early today in guerrilla rioting that has wracked Cleveland's East Side Negro area for five nights.

Until the shooting about 3 a. m., police and National Guardsmen had kept relative calm in areas hit by fire bombing, shooting and vandalism since Monday night.

Shots were fired from the passenger-side window of a car carrying two white youths, police said. Six white youths

President Demands Race Rioting Cease

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—President Johnson flew into the Midwest today and demanded an end to rioting by big city Negroes, saying such violence breeds tyranny and will boom-erang against the rioters.

In an address prepared for a civic luncheon in Indianapolis, Johnson said: "Our country can abide civil protest. It can improve the lives of those who mount that protest. But it cannot abide civil violence."

Gives Warning

Johnson, in a blunt warning that riots are self-defeating, said:

"Riots in the streets do not bring about lasting reforms. They tear at the very fabric of the community. They set neighbor against neighbor and create walls of mistrust and fear between them. They make reform more difficult by turning away the very people who can and must support reform. They start a chain reaction, the consequences of which always fall most heavily on those who begin them."

Johnson said, "There are ways of protesting that any civilized society can tolerate."

Getting specific, he said: "The ballot box, the neighborhood committees, the political and civil rights organizations—are the means by which Americans express their resentment against intolerable conditions. They are designed to reform society, not rip it apart."

Begins Busy Day

Johnson began a busy day at travel through Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky by discussing not only race violence but also defending his Viet Nam policies and arguing that his administration "has not shirked its own responsibility in the fight against inflation."

Nickerson Sees Rocky As Lacking Dem Hopeful Tells County Reception

by HUGH REYNOLDS

Freeman Staff Writer

"If a teacher were marking Nelson's gubernatorial report card, said Nassau County Executive Eugene Nickerson last night at the Sportsmen's Park, Rosendale, he would have to say Nelson is promising but an under-achiever."

Nelson is, of course, Governor Rockefeller, and Nickerson dwelled at length on what he considered Gov. Rockefeller's "under achievements" or in some cases, total lack of achievement.

Seeks Nomination

Nickerson, campaigning for the Democratic party nomination to run against Rockefeller, said that the present Rockefeller Administration is characterized by a maximum of fanfare and a minimum of substance.

He cited such things as the narcotic problem in the state, the water and air pollution menace, the lack of higher education.

It's common for aspiring public servants to harp on the deficiencies of their predecessors, but Nickerson also offered some programs to replace what he thought were insufficient measures to solve the current problems of the state.

"Narcotics is a growing problem and is getting larger every day, he said. Rockefeller has allotted $80 million to set up maximum security institutions for these addicts and half-way houses. After 7½ years of ignoring the problem, it's about time he tried something."

"However, I feel that that is (Continued on Page 12, Col. 3)

Fireman Rescues Seven-Year-Old In Rondout Creek

Quick action by an off-duty Kingston fireman saved the life of seven-year-old Kenneth Barnhart Friday in the Rondout Creek at Dwyer's Boat Basin.

John H. Dwyer, 23, of 83 Highland Avenue had returned to his father's boat basin to do some work since Mr. Dwyer was on vacation. He said he spotted the Barnhart boy going under after his companion, Kevin Houghtaling had called for help.

Recall Background of Local Fire Department from 1754

With the approach of the 31st annual convention of Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association in Kingston July 28, 29 and 30, the Kingston Volunteer Firemen's Convention Committee today presented a brief history of Kingston's Fire Department.

It is a far cry from 1754 when Kingston's Fire Department was first organized, to 1966 with the present fully-motorized fire department and a history of glorious achievement behind it.

In the early days of the founding of the then Village of Kingston, each household had a supply of leather buckets on hand which were used in extinguishing the occasional fires that broke out. It was on November 27, 1754, that the first fire department was organized, and a fire engine brought from England at a cost not to exceed eighty pounds.

It was not until the spring of 1757 that the crude engine was received from overseas, and on May 15, of that year, the village trustees entered into an agreement with one William Eltinge to take care of the engine until March of the following year. For his services Mr. Eltinge was paid the sum of twenty shillings.

This first fire engine did efficient work until it was destroyed by fire on that historic day, October 16, 1777, when the village of Kingston was put to the torch by the British.

In 1797 a fire department was organized which continues in existence until a village fire department was organized on October 19, 1805.

Those were the days of the leather buckets and every household was required to keep at hand a certain number. Each bucket bore the initials of the owner.

When an alarm of fire was sounded the buckets were either thrown out into the street in front of the house for some one to use, or were carried to the fire by the householder, who would help a bucket brigade from the nearest water supply to the scene of the fire.

It was with the use of these leather buckets, each holding about eight quarts of water, and the primitive fire engine that the fires were fought.

The modern fire department as we know it today did not come into existence until 1848 (Continued on Page 5, Col. 1)

Three Arrested By Troy Police In Racial Strife

TROY, N. Y. (AP) — Three Negro men — one a spokesman for activist young Negroes — were arrested and charged early today, shortly after fire-tombs exploded in two buildings.

The incident came after a week of racial tension, sparked by a charge of police brutality in this industrial Hudson River City.

No One Hurt

No one was reported injured in the fires, started around 1 a. m. by what firemen termed "Molotov cocktails."

One fire, at a grocery store, caused extensive damage and forced several apartment dwellers above the store to evacuate the building.

The other fire, at the Tiny Town Togs Inc., caused minor damage before an automatic sprinkling system doused the flames.

Police said, when they arrested the trio, they found a quantity of other homemade bombs inside the automobile in which the men were riding.

Firemen said the devices were made from pint jars filled with gasoline and plugged with rag wicks.

Three Arrested

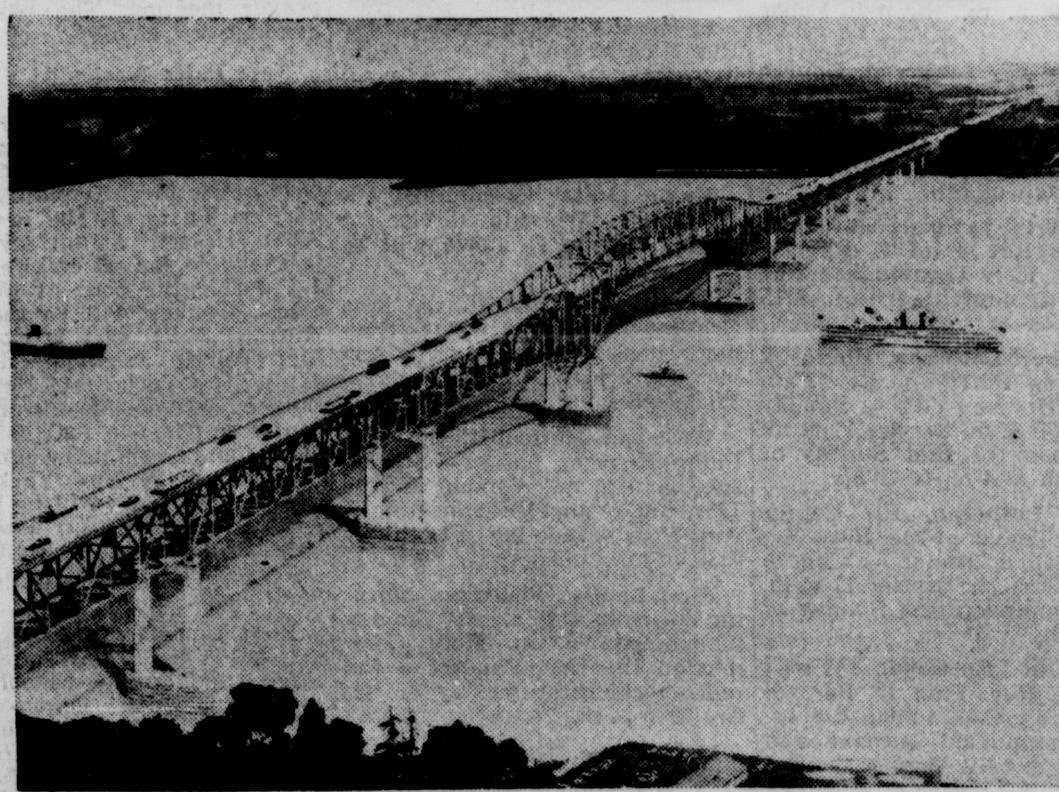

Arrested were David C. Venson, 19, Wilbur Carter Jr., 21, and Leonard A. Wade, 26, all of Troy.

Venson was arraigned on charges of first-degree arson and possession of explosives, with intent to use unlawfully, both felonies, before Judge Timothy Fogarty of Troy Police Court.

Carter and Wade were arraigned on the explosives charge only.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

FAITH IN JAPAN—II

Out of the holocaust that fateful August 6, 1945, in Hiroshima, 14-year-old Tadashi Hasegawa found a life of devotion and purpose.

Tadashi was diving into one of the rivers in Hiroshima as the bomb exploded. His head, back and both arms were badly burned. Somehow, he managed to unite with his parents, who had been protected from the blast, and together they went to the home of a friend in a village five miles away. There was no medicine for his burns and a friend suggested his father go to the Jesuits for help. Father Arrupe, the present general of the Jesuit Order, answered the call, although all he had was a little boric acid to clean the burns. The fathers went every day to see the boy, who hovered between life and death. At last he recovered and, although his family were Buddhist, he went to see Father La Salle at the cathedral in Hiroshima about becoming a priest. After studying at Sophie University in Tokyo, he returned to Hiroshima. And now as Father Francis Hasegawa, at the Peace Cathedral, he gives to others the love and faith that was shown to him during those dark days in 1945.

Cleveland Gets One-Third Ohio's Antipoverty Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Officials say more than a third of Ohio antipoverty funds — $21 million — has gone to greater Cleveland to fight problems in such areas as housing, where violence erupted this week.

While police and National Guardsmen still patrol the riot areas, officials are working to rush into operation still another program, specifically aimed at helping racially troubled cities. "It's been a major concern from the start," Dr. Donald Beatty, deputy director of the Ohio Office of Economic Opportunity, said of the Cleveland area. "It's been one of the most serious."

Gets Special Notice
Hough has received special attention as one of the most severely troubled spots in Cleveland, he said, and officials have watched to make sure Hough got its share of funds.

Of $60.4 million allocated to Ohio under the federal "War on Poverty," more than $21 million went to greater Cleveland, which has less than a fifth of the state's population and about a fourth of Ohio's Negroes. The total includes funds allocated between February of 1965 and June 30.

Most of the money went for community action, Neighborhood Youth Corps and work experience programs designed to help the poor learn to help themselves.

The state office and Cleveland Council of Economic Opportunity are working now to speed into operation a "1060 program," designed under the federal project for the nation's 10 most troubled cities. In Cleveland, it would provide work experience for 1,060 youngsters and young adults.

Add 500 More
Cleveland officials asked just a few days before trouble began that the program be expanded by 500 persons.

Federal concern was indicated in rapid approval. The state requested funding of the new program June 6. That normally takes 60 days. But telephone confirmation and authorization to start setting up the program was given July 1.

Gov. James A. Rhodes gave his required approval July 16, two days before the violence began.

Cleveland now has 5,524 youngsters in the Neighborhood Youth Corps, 3,041 persons in federally supported adult education programs and 3,000 adults in work experience projects.

All are aimed at helping youngsters and adults get jobs and climb out of an existence of poverty.

Car Rams Into Train, Driver Is Killed

ALDEN, N.Y. (AP)—An automobile traveling down railroad tracks and a New York Central passenger train collided head-on Friday night near this community 20 miles east of Buffalo, killing the driver.

State Police identified him as John W. Quigley, 40, of Elmira. They said the vehicle was spotted by witnesses on the tracks about a mile from the crash scene, traveling east with its headlights off.

The engineer, Paul F. Slawson of Orchard Park, said he did not see the auto until the driver switched on the headlights about 100 yards in front of the train.

Troopers said the seven-car train, bound from New York City to Buffalo, was traveling at 85 miles an hour. The wreckage was pushed 1½ miles from the point of collision before the train stopped.

The locomotive was damaged, and passengers were transferred to buses to complete the trip. Troopers said they did not know why Quigley was driving on the tracks.

Death Cause Unknown

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Police say they are unsure what caused the death of a 40-year-old man whose body was found Friday in his wrecked automobile in a drainage ditch.

An autopsy was ordered on the body of Dewey Burton of Hilton. The accident occurred along the Lake Ontario Parkway in nearby Hamlin State Park.

Upstate Man Killed

ADAMS, N.Y. (AP)—Harry Seay, Jr., 22, of Adams, was killed early today when the automobile in which he was a passenger went off Grove Road here, south of Watertown, and overturned.

Brooklyn Disorders

Two White Men Are Wounded in Racial Turmoil

NEW YORK (AP) — Gunfire from a moving auto carrying four Negroes wounded two white men at 2 a.m. today in the racially seething East New York slum area of Brooklyn, police reported.

The shots were fired as the two men stood at a street corner in a section where 1,700 police reported on the streets or held in reserve.

Reported Critical
Frank Tuleo, 24, was shot in the abdomen and was reported in critical condition in a hospital.

Gregorio Cruz, 35, was shot in the right buttock and was reported in fair condition at the same hospital.

Scattered disorders broke out through the early morning. Several policemen were injured and 15 persons were arrested on various charges.

The gunfire erupted three hours after police broke up a crowd of 45 Negro youths charging toward a predominantly Italian-American section of East New York and chanting "Get the whites."

Police Closed In
Police in five radio cars closed in on the gang of youths — aged 17 to 25 — and chased them back toward the Negro section of East New York and adjoining Brownsville.

Police said knives and clubs were taken from some of the youths. Eight of them were arrested.

There has been racial disorder in East New York almost nightly for a week — the worst in the city since the Negro riots two summers ago in Harlem and the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn.

The Negro gang was broken up about eight blocks from the scene of racial turmoil Thursday night, during which an 11-year-old Negro boy was killed by a sniper's bullet.

Fearful Violence
Police feared violence Friday night from about 200 Negro and Puerto Rican youths at an East New York street corner. But the youths suddenly ran into the street shouting, "We want peace! We're all brothers." They joined hands and walked together along the street, encouraged by bystanders who waved at them and clanged garbage can covers.

At 3:30 a.m. today, police barred autos and pedestrians from a two-square block area because the streets and sidewalks were covered by debris hurled from windows and roofs. A squad of police investigating a report of early morning gunfire, found 10 fire bombs on a roof.

Policemen Hurt
A policeman suffered a knee injury in the roof search. Another policeman was injured when a radio car door slammed on his fingers as he was helping disperse a crowd gathered in a Negro neighborhood.

A detective was injured when a brick was thrown through a window of a police car. Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary arrived in the East New York section shortly after midnight and cruised in a department car.

Leary said there was no evidence that "outsiders" were in the area causing trouble. Two Negro community leaders had said Friday they had seen "agitators" who previously had been spotted in racial trouble spots in Chicago and Los Angeles.

A white motorcyclist was hit by a brick as he stood talking with a friend in East New York. He was not seriously hurt.

In addition to the heavy police reinforcements in East New York, an estimated 1,000 police were deployed as a precautionary measure to several other ghetto areas including Harlem, the southeast Bronx and Brooklyn. The police — many wearing plastic helmets — were on foot, in radio cars and on horseback.

Both Leary and Mayor John V. Lindsay appealed Friday for peace in the city.

Leary appealed to parents in East New York to keep their teen-aged children in the house after dark.

Ferroxcube Shifts Activities, 20 Local People to Colorado

Ferroxcube Corporation will shift all activities connected with its memory systems operation to the firm's Denver plant. It was announced today by N. W. Buoymaster, Ferroxcube president, from his Saugerties office.

In making the announcement, Buoymaster said the move will enable the firm to pursue its expanding memory systems business more aggressively by concentrating all efforts in this direction at one facility. Instead of having part of the development and production operations located in Denver and part in Saugerties, the company will now be doing the complete job from initial design through manufacturing and marketing in Denver.

Manufacturing activities will include both plane and stack wiring, system assembly and test. The shift of operations is scheduled to be completed by mid-August with all personnel and equipment to be relocated by that date. According to Buoymaster most staffing for the new operation will be done in Denver but about 20 people from Saugerties will be involved in the move.

The Denver facility was opened in January of this year under the direction of C. J. Kunz Jr., Ferroxcube vice president, to take care of expanding activities in the area of storage devices for government and military applications. The memory systems operation will be in addition to these activities.

Instrument Lost During Spacewalk of Gemini Crew

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — An experiment in space has turned to dust for a group of scientists here.

Dr. John E. Hotchin of the State Health Department and scientists at the Dudley Observatory reported Friday that a small, micrometeorite collector that went aboard Gemini 10 could not be found when the craft landed Thursday.

Hotchin, associate director of the department's division of laboratories and research, had prepared several organisms for the space trip to determine their ability to survive in space.

The book-sized box was to collect space dust for scientific study for the Dudley Observatory.

Hotchin and observatory officials prepared the experiment on a grant from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

NASA officials said the box could have drifted out during astronaut Michael Collins' spacewalk Wednesday.

A similar collector box, however, was retrieved by the Gemini 10 crew. It was a packet prepared by the observatory that rode to space aboard the Agena 8 vehicle and had been floating in space for nearly four months.

Philippine Report

Sees Reprisals By Reds Because Of Aid to Viet

MANILA (AP) — More than 500 Communist terrorists in central Luzon are getting "massive help" in arms and equipment from unknown sources, Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos said today.

Marcos told The Associated Press the weapons include American-made automatic rifles which were "stolen or purchased" illegally from U.S. bases in the Philippines.

Not Apparent
 Marcos, who earlier this week ordered 3,000 troops into the four central Luzon provinces to flush out a band of guerrillas who killed six people in the past few days, said the Communist threat was "now quite apparent within the Philippines."

Sixty-two mayors, local officials and former rebels who refused to collaborate with the resurgent guerrilla movement have been liquidated in the past few months, he said.

Red extortion tactics in wide areas of Nueva Ecija, Pampanga, Tarlac and Bulacan provinces have affected the agricultural development of the area.

The 48-year-old president said the renewed Communist activity was a "sharp and violent reaction" by the Communists to the Philippine decision to send troops to South Viet Nam.

Sees Reaction
 It was a "manifestation, not only of local Communists, but of international designs," he said. "My feeling is that these are sporadic, weak and will not last under the massive scale of development of the rural areas which we have planned and are now implementing," he said.

Marcos said the government is organizing 11 army engineer battalions for civic action work in rural areas. Ten will be used at home and the remaining one sent to work in South Viet Nam.

All the units will specialize in the construction of roads, bridges, irrigation systems, school houses, hospitals, low cost dwellings, drainage canals and lightning systems.

"My concept of the construction engineering battalion is one that is engaged principally in civic action work, that will help in uplifting the small man, improve the rural area."

"We feel that it is really the more important part of the effort, inasmuch as the military seems to be well under control by the Vietnamese and American forces," he said.

Buy Municipal Building Site For Ellenville

Ellenville village officials have taken title to the New York Telephone Co. Building on North Main Street, and will occupy the structure as a municipal building after extensive renovations to the interior.

The purchase price was reported to be $32,500. The Village Board at a recent meeting voted to borrow $35,000 at 3.40 per cent from the Ellenville National Bank in anticipation of a bond issue.

More Layoffs Due, Say GE Spokesmen

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Officials of the General Electric Co. said today that additional layoffs were likely because of two, three-day-old strikes that have idled about 1,000 employees.

The current dispute at GE began Thursday, when 150 electricians walked off their jobs to protest what they termed "intimidation and coercion" by management.

The electricians were followed by 290 employees of the Large Generator and Motor Department Thursday and another 400 Friday.

On Friday, the second day of the strike, the company sent 100 workers home. A spokesman for the company said additional layoffs would follow if the strikers did not return to their jobs.

The striking workers are represented by the International Union of Electrical Workers.

A union leader said the generator department employees struck because the company demands "piecemeal effort for daywork pay." The 400 who walked off their jobs Friday are to return to work Monday, he said.

He said the dredging this year, "has resulted in the removal from protective inner harbors of 4.5 million cubic yards, or more readily understood, 55,228 railroad cars full or one trainload of hopper cars, a continuous length of 345 miles."

An end to the dumping, stricter enforcement of present federal laws and new legislation was advisable, he said.

In addition, he said, the responsibility for enforcement of the anti-pollution measures governing navigable waters should be transferred from the corps to the Coast Guard. The armed service's record in pollution control, he asserted, was "much more reliable."

The corps was given authority to enforce the anti-pollution laws by the Rivers and Harbor Act of 1899.

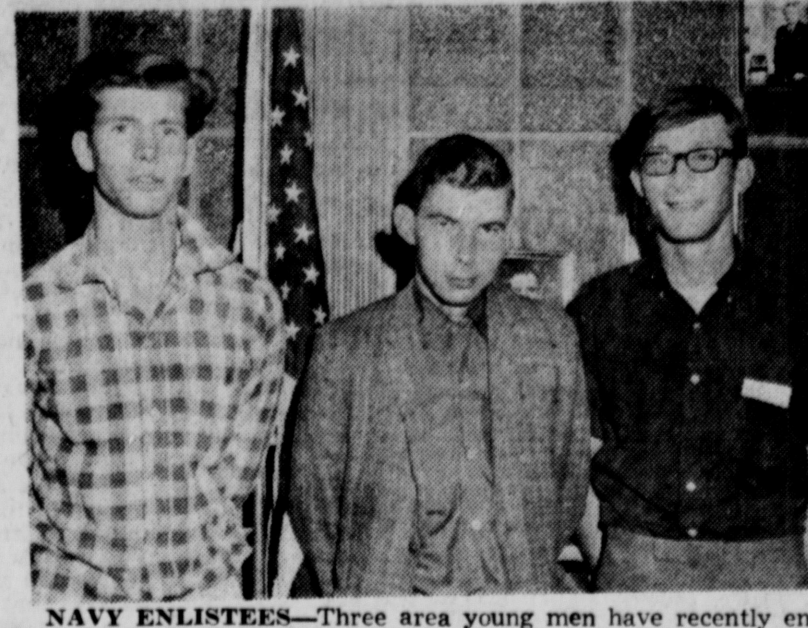

The congressmen scheduled a tour today of a Rochester sewage-treatment plant, the shore of Lake Ontario from Sodus Point to Niagara Falls and the Genesee River.

U.S. Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, Buffalo Democrat, told the hearing that Lake Erie was in danger of becoming a "huge swamp" unless something were done to halt its pollution.

He called for an end to construction of combined storm and sanitary sewers and urged replacement of existing systems, among other suggestions.

The combined storm-sanitary sewers of the Rochester city system was given by the congressmen as a contributing cause to pollution of the Genesee River.

They also charged that the Kodak Park film-manufacturing and processing center of the Eastman Kodak Co. was the principal polluter of the lower Genesee.

NAVY ENLISTEES—Three area young men have recently enlisted in the U. S. Navy and left for training, according to an announcement from the Kingston Recruiting Office. Left to right are: Glenn Scott Hansman, of Palenville; David Ross Pennock, of Boiceville; and Peter Stephen Montalvo, of Stone Ridge. Hansman, a 1965 graduate of Saugerties High School, enlisted in the Navy's Construction Battalion Program as a Third Class Petty Officer and is training at Quonset Point, R. I. Pennock, a 1966 Ontario Central School graduate, and Montalvo, a 1966 Rondout Valley Central graduate, are currently undergoing training as recruits for 10 weeks at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Ill.

BRIDGE

Whimsical Lead Is Rewarding

By JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is another unusual bridge problem for you. Look over all the cards and see if you can figure out how South managed to go down three tricks at his four-spade contract without playing give-away bridge.

The answer lies in a whimsical but highly effective lead by West. He opened his king of hearts!

South liked the lead. Obviously West didn't have a club to lead to his partner and it seemed certain the heart lead was from a suit headed by the king and queen.

South could see no way to avoid the eventual loss of three club tricks unless he could get to discard a club on dummy's third heart. That was not likely but no other play appeared to offer any chance for success.

South allowed the king of hearts to hold. West led a second heart and the jack was played from dummy. East produced the queen while South produced a look of utter astonishment.

East cashed three high clubs while West jettisoned his last three hearts. Then East led his third heart. South ruffed with a high trump to establish West's ten as the sixth trick for the defense.

The statement that West's lead of the king of hearts was whimsical is mild indeed. We didn't see the hand and while it was reported to us by a reliable authority, we wonder about it.

Dismiss Charges On Briggs; Claim Evidence 'Tainted'

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—A Rensselaer County Court judge has dismissed indictments against Norman H. Briggs, a former Troy insurance man who disappeared in 1960 and turned up five years later working as a cowboy in Wyoming.

Judge John T. Casey ruled Friday that evidence concerning alleged fraud in a $120,000 insurance claim was "tainted" with prejudicial material. The indictment for child abandonment was dropped. Casey said, because "the record is devoid of any objective proof that the children were left in destitute circumstances."

Briggs, who used the name Clay Hollister in Wyoming, disappeared July 16, 1960, while scuba diving in a reservoir north of here. He left a wife and two children in Troy.

She divorced him in 1964 and remarried. Mrs. Briggs had collected, however, $120,000 in insurance on her husband's life. She has returned most of the money.

Briggs was discovered in March 1965 in Newcastle, Wyo., and was returned to Troy after he was indicted. He has been free in $5,000 bail since last Aug. 2 on the two charges.

Under terms of the bail, Briggs was permitted to travel wherever he desired and reportedly now is in Texas. He remarried in Cheyenne, Wyo., last June.

Expects Hudson Bill Will Pass Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John G. Dow, D-N.Y., says a move is under way to "railroad" legislation concerning the Hudson River through Congress, while the bill's sponsor terms the move "swift congressional action."

The Democrat from Grand View said Friday that a one-day hearing scheduled next Friday in Washington would not permit the local communities involved sufficient time to testify.

Rep. Richard Ottinger, D-N.Y., the sponsor of the bill, said, however, that the one-day hearing was proof of "swift congressional action."

Ottinger of Pleasantville, has proposed a measure aimed at preserving the scenic beauty of the Hudson River region.

Dow said he has asked Rep. Wayne Aspinwall, D-Colo., chairman of the House Interior Committee, to extend the hearing.

Gotham Bus Fare Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The 20-cent fare becomes effective at midnight tonight on all bus lines in the city.

On July 5 the Transit Authority raised the fare from 15 to 20 cents on subways and bus lines which it controls directly.

On Friday the Board of Estimate approved the 20-cent fare for 74 subsidiary bus lines of the TA and the seven private bus lines. However, the board limited the increase to six months on those lines.

The board voted 20 to 2 for the fare boost. Dissenting was Herman Badillo, Bronx borough president, who is allowed two votes. Badillo was not present but a spokesman said his votes were in protest of a failure to permit free transfers in connection with the increase.

UNITED NATIONS (NEA)—There is more than wishful thinking behind the optimistic talk in Washington about the Viet Nam.
Even anti-American diplomats in the United Nations reluctantly admit that the United States now has the initiative in the fight against the Viet Cong and their Chinese and North Vietnamese allies.
"It is clear that Mao Tse-tung is determined to fight to the last Vietnamese while China stands on the sidelines and cheers for revolution," an African diplomat said.

He was commenting on Peking's reaction to the U. S. bombing of oil depots and other military targets on the outskirts of North Viet Nam's two principal cities.

Only two months ago the same diplomat had predicted that "American imperialism will never win in Viet Nam."

There was indeed little comfort or hope for the Communists in Red China's statement on the bombings printed in Peking's official newspaper, Jinnin Jih Pao.

The Chinese made it abundantly clear that they are not prepared to send troops to Viet Nam in the foreseeable future.

Instead Peking told Hanoi and the Viet Cong that they "should and can only rely on themselves to make revolution and wage a people's war."

It is hard, of course, to penetrate the innermost thoughts of China's military strategists. But much is deduced by CIA analysts from public statements emanating from Peking. Most statements lead to the view that the Chinese do not believe in the inevitability of a war with the United States.

They are, on the contrary, worried about the possible extension of the Vietnamese conflict to China's mainland.

For instance, in no case have the Chinese called—in recent months at least—for active war preparations against the United States. But they have devoted a considerable amount of space in their press to what they describe as the "eastward shift of U. S. global strategy."

Peking's leaders allege that a system of military bases has been set up "spearheaded against China" by an "anti-Chinese coalition" of the United States, Russia, Japan and India.

They also stress the success of the so-called "American-Russian collaboration to dominate the world" and "encircle" China.

However, the Chinese go to great lengths to de-emphasize the possibility of a nuclear war. They point out that "the U. S. has decided to greatly increase its capability in conventional forces and pay greater attention to the development of some conventional weapons systems."

Statements such as "the weapons and equipment of U. S. soldiers are not bad and neither are their techniques" occur with greater frequency in Chinese pronouncements for home consumption.

"We admit that modern weapons and equipment play an important role in war," China's Liberation Daily recently commented in an editorial on combat readiness.

This was a significant admission on the part of Mao Tse-tung whose army must rely largely on inferior weapons. Until now he was feeding his soldiers with the illusion that in war "the only important factor is man's bravery and spirit of sacrifice."

This does not mean that the Chinese are ready to let Hanoi negotiate a peace settlement. The North Vietnamese are war-weary and increasingly resentful of Peking's do-nothing policy. But for geographical reasons Peking exercises much more influence over North Vietnamese policies than does Russia, which wants Hanoi to negotiate.

However, it is clear that war in Viet Nam has convinced even Mao Tse-tung that the United States is hardly the "paper tiger" he believed it to be.

There are clearly discerning signs that the Chinese underneath their belligerent statements, are desperately anxious to avoid a direct military confrontation with the United States.

Check Out Impacted Teeth To Guard Against Trouble

One day last week a patient arrived 10 minutes late. Breathless and worried, she explained, "I just had to finish planting my anemone bulbs, but I'm not sure if I planted them right side up."

That's how it is with some teeth. Whoever planted them was either in a hurry or didn't always know right side up, because very few people have teeth that are in perfect alignment. Some grow up, some down, others to the side, and still others don't grow at all but remain embedded in bone.

These are called impacted teeth. While the most common impactions are wisdom teeth, the upper eye teeth are frequent casualties, and so are the premolars.

Since wisdom teeth are little more than appendages in modern man, the problem of their impactions is eliminated by taking them out. This isn't always as easy as it sounds, as many of you no doubt know. When the tooth is buried deep in bone, and in order to get it to overlying bone must be removed, extraction can be difficult.

That's why I still have one remaining wisdom tooth that wasn't extracted with the three that were, while I was still in dental school. Why wasn't the fourth one extracted? Because "... if more harm is done by extracting a tooth than by leaving it in, then leave it in."

Eyetooths are a different problem. Room in the jaw can usually be made for them and they can be teased into place by cementing a "plug" on them and bringing them into normal occlusion. Orthodontists do this routinely. Premolars are more of a problem and sometimes have to be extracted.

When and if to remove an impacted tooth depends on the judgment of dentist, surgeon and orthodontist. The orthodontist should be consulted because he can best determine if the tooth can be saved and still be a useful member of our chewing apparatus.

There are dangers in leaving impacted teeth in the jaw. Cysts sometimes form and destroy bone around them. Sometimes they press on other teeth, wearing away roots and causing much pain. The most disconcerting effect is that they sometimes lie embedded for almost a lifetime, only to begin growing out soon after a patient begins to wear artificial dentures.

X-rays should be taken of impacted teeth every once in a while to see what's happening to them and the surrounding areas.

would make the abandonment of dependents by fathers, fleeing across the state line, a federal offense.

Under present conditions a deserted wife may have to file suits in one state after another in an effort to locate the runaway and make him live up to his promises. If such flights were a federal offense, only one suit would be necessary.

Cases of desertion are increasing. In 1961 the number of children abandoned by their fathers was reported as 1,652,000. It has risen to well above two million. There is growing need for such a law as Senator Ervin advocates.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — On the opening day of the Governors Conference in Los Angeles, six governors — John Connally, Texas; Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, California; Otto Kerner, Illinois; John Love, Colorado; John Reed, Maine, and William Scranton, Pennsylvania, appeared on a nationally televised news show.

As is customary, each governor was given a voice level test before air time. Reed, a Republican, was the first to be tested and he blurted:

"I'm sitting behind Pat Brown, the great governor of California."

Brown, facing a tough fall election against Republican Ronald Reagan, quickly barked: "May I quote you?"

There was plenty of entertainment at the Conference, including a preview showing of the movie, "How to Steal a Million."

Noting this item on the day's program, one governor asked: "What is it? A panel discussion?"

Arizona Gov. Samuel Goddard speculated that it might be a training film for the governors.

Toward the end of the final session, all those governors who were retiring for various reasons this year made their swan song speeches at the Governors Conference podium.

In turn, each stepped to the microphone and briefly mentioned how pleasant it had been working with such a distinguished group for the last two, four or eight years.

Just as the session appeared to be over, the familiar voice of Alabama Gov. George Wallace came booming out:

"I forgot that I wasn't going to be back next year."

This brought the house down.

Wallace, barred by state law from succeeding himself, is terminating his wife Laureen's campaign to take his place. She is an overwhelming favorite to win. So Wallace added:

"But I will be back next year. I'll be in charge of highway beautification programs in Alabama."

Congressmen sometimes ask for trouble. Take the case of Rep. Robert McEwen, R-N.Y., who recently got a request for a cannonball.

It came from Jefferson Community College in Watertown, part of McEwen's district. The college's athletic nickname is the "Cannoners."

Somehow McEwen located an old cannonball — a relic from the Civil War — and sent it on. Now the college has asked him for a cannon.

Quick Quiz

Q—Why is March 17 celebrated as St. Patrick's Day?
A—Many people erroneously suppose this date to be the anniversary of the birth of the apostle to Ireland. March 17, however, is the traditional day on which St. Patrick died. It is his feast day, not his birthday.

Q—Which is the first Bible to be printed in our country?
A—The Eliot Indian Bible, printed in 1663 in the language of the Massachusetts (or Algonquian) Indians.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

During the early years of World War II, Martin and Shirley Weldon were in charge of programs at our then only radio station, WKNY. I had the good fortune to know Mr. and Mrs. Weldon and work with them. Not too long ago, I saw him on one of the network television shows interviewing a prominent person in Washington D. C. Perhaps now and then he thinks of this little Colonial City of Kingston, where he did remotes and ran live shows from such places as the Auditorium during a blood bank session, when he gave blood, and explained the procedure over the mike which he held in his hand.

Shirley, his wife, was interested in good music, and worked at one of the stations in New York which catered to that clientele. In 1949 Martin Weldon's book came out called Babe Ruth, with illustrations and photographs. It was published by Thomas Y. Crowell Co. of New York and I am the proud possessor of an autographed copy from Mr. Weldon. Mr. and Mrs. Weldon worked together on this book and he gives her credit.

George Herman Ruth was born on Feb. 6, 1895 in Baltimore. He was the oldest of eight children. His mother's name was Kate Schamberg, and she died when Babe Ruth was 17. Babe's father, a rough, strong man, who worked as butcher, saloon keeper, and later installed lightning rods. They were of German stock. His environment was of the slums of a large city and his father's saloon. So like a weed, he grew on the wrong side of the track, and he grew strong, just to fight and keep alive while on the street. Even in his father's saloon, led to Babe enrolling in St. Mary's Industrial School, and later boarding there for $15 a month.

This school had to keep their boys very busy, so there was a vocational course attached, and Babe learned how to make shirts. The 800 boys rose at 6 o'clock and were at their duties by 7:30. The day ended at 4:45. He played his first game of baseball on his first day at St. Mary's, which was June 13, 1902. Martin Weldon writes. Babe was left-handed so even the catcher's mitt was wrong for him as he had to wear it on his right hand. This school had as many as 43 teams, representing all age groups, and before long, Babe or George as he was known then, became the star catcher of the official St. Mary's team, all this with his right hand, which was wrong for him, so he tried pitching, and struck out 18 in his first game.

The school kept him and the other boys busy, and he became a good shirtnmaker, and learned to build cabinets and even roll cigars. He played some 200 baseball games a season, sometimes playing two games a day, and three on Sundays. One season he hit more than 60 homers. Martin Weldon tells about the priests who were a good influence in Ruth's life.

Babe Ruth died at the age of 53 on Aug. 16, 1948. Some 100,000 passed his bier at the Yankee Stadium, and some 75,000 lined Fifth Avenue in a drizzling rain to see the cortege move from St. Patrick's Cathedral to the cemetery. His name remains great in baseball circles, and somehow he is remembered most fondly by the fans, the boy from the wrong side of the tracks, the left-handed baseball player, who first started by having to catch with his right hand. Baseball seems very popular in Kingston, so no doubt many know about the interesting baseball life of famous Babe Ruth.

with the organization of the Protector Engine No. 1, which was equipped with a hand fire engine, which was housed in a barn on Mill Street, in the Village of Rondout.

Several years later the Lackawanna Engine Co. was formed Downtown.

Uptown in the Village of Kingston four fire companies were organized. They were the American Engine Co., the Niagara Steamer Co., the Washington Steamer Co., and the Excelsior Steamer Co., all of which were organized in the 1830's and the 1840's.

In 1872 when the two villages were incorporated into the present City of Kingston the two fire departments Uptown and Downtown were consolidated and the city divided into two departments, known as the western and eastern fire departments.

The city hall on Broadway was the dividing line between the two villages.

The most important step taken in improving the fire department in the city was on August 8, 1907, when the present, partially paid fire department was organized, and ever since that step was taken the volunteer fire companies of the city have cooperated wholeheartedly with the paid firemen.

Walter P. Crane was mayor of the city in 1907, and he appointed the first Board of Fire Commissioners. The men named were Benjamin J. Hornbeck, Louis A. Kolls and Charles A. Davis.

When the board met and organized, Commissioner Hornbeck was elected president and City Clerk John T. Cummings was named as clerk.

posing traffic and without median, is very dangerous."

Stillman expressed hope the subcommittee would recommend legislative or administrative action to prevent inclusion of "such shortsighted projects" in the federal aid system.

Critical In Past

Stillman, a resident of Cornwall-on-Hudson, a Newburgh attorney, former Democratic chairman of Orange County and a member of the Kennedy administration as a deputy in the Commerce Department, has been critical of the two-lane toll bridge before. He was a member of the State Bridge Authority from February, 1956, until June, 1961, and served as chairman from March, 1957, until March, 1961.

In a January, 1961, letter, which he said was one of resignation as chairman, Stillman complained to Gov. Rockefeller that money and opportunities were lost through changes in Newburgh-Beacon plans. He noted that "over $750,000" was spent for designing a four-lane bridge at Newburgh and said he regretted that Gov. Rockefeller "saw fit to change the financing plan . . . by giving up $24 million of federal aid, now lost forever" to the state's highway system.

At that time, he also opposed reducing the span's width from 57 to 30 feet, and changing it "from a modern divided highway design to an archaic and dangerous two-lane frictional traffic structure." He accused the Governor of "seriously misleading the public" in stating that the 30-foot bridge would only cost $200,000, when estimates—which he said were available to him—showed the cost of the reduced project would be much more.

Won 1964 Award

There were many who agreed with Stillman at the time; felt the bridge was obsolete before it was built—but the 1.3 miles long bridge, into which 14,920 tons of steel was poured, went on to win an award in 1964 from the American Institute of Steel Construction as one of the most beautiful opened to traffic between Jan. 1, 1963 and Oct. 10, 1964. Even the award drew barbs from some critics, who felt the steel industry has vested interest because of all those tons it supplied to replace the Newburgh ferry, which was used by George Washington and his Continental army, Yankee troops and runaway slaves of the Civil War and Army convoys of World War I.

The $23-million bridge across the Hudson River killed the ferry, which had been a financial failure for a decade or more before its demise. During its last year of operation, the ferry lost $100,000 for the state. Total receipts from the bridge during each of the past six months alone has soared above that amount. In January of this year, receipts were $105,247.95; in February $110,479.50; and in March, $119,108.30. As winter slipped from the calendar and travel was made easier, receipts rose even higher. Figures show $123,022.80 in April; $130,673.20 in May; and $139,226.90 in June. Total traffic figures also seem to back up Stillman's stand that more than two lanes were needed to handle the heavy flow of vehicles. The winter months of 1966 saw 216,516 cars using the bridge in January; 205,211 in February; and 244,548 in March. With the onslaught of spring, drivers utilized the bridge even more frequently with traffic jumping to 247,771 in April; 262,874 in May; and 277,901 in June.

Schick, McCardle Shokan Man . . . Results Hearing Set for Aug. 3

There was no determination Friday in the Primary contest between James T. McCardle, Hurley, and Attorney John J. Schick of Kingston to determine who has received the Primary designation for Democratic State Committee.

Justice T. Paul Kane adjourned the matter until August 3. The place where the matter will be heard will not be determined until August 1, since Justice Kane is on vacation.

The matter came on Friday before Justice T. Paul Kane at Albany under a show cause order signed by Justice Louis G. Berman. The action seeks to determine the legality of some 211 ballots which were declared void on Friday Day. Schick was declared the elected candidate in the dispute when the official canvass showed he led his opponent, former Supervisor McCardle by 22 votes. However, McCardle challenged the void ballots and seeks a canvass of those votes on the theory that they will produce enough valid ballots to give him the Democratic designation as State Committeeman.

On the adjourned date the motion for a recount will be determined and if granted the 211 voided ballots will be examined by the court and a decision as to validity will be given. George Beck of Ewig and Beck appears for McCardle.

Red China's . . .

clear that even a halt in U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam would not draw the Communists to the conference table — as far as Peking is concerned.

Reconvening of the Geneva conference was completely ruled out as an "out-and-out criminal action."

Peace efforts by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi in recent trips to Moscow were denounced — as well as the Soviet leaders.

Peking also declared itself completely freed of all restrictions and limitations imposed by the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina, and said the agreements "are already nonexistent."

Liu said, "We must warn the U.S. aggressors in all seriousness" do not miscalculate and do not misjudge your opponents."

Ready for Sacrifice

He said China was "ready to undertake the greatest national sacrifice" and no longer was restricted by the demarcation line between North and South Viet Nam in giving aid to the Vietnamese people.

"The 700 million Chinese people provide a powerful backing for the Vietnamese people," he declared. "The vast expanse of China's territory is the reliable rear area of the Vietnamese people."

Premier Tao Chu, who recently was named party propaganda chief, told the rally:

"As everyone knows, the core of the Viet Nam question at present is absolutely not a matter of merely stopping the bombing of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam. To lay one-sided stress on the stopping of bombing is precisely to cater to the needs of the U.S. imperialist policy of blackmail."

He also attacked the 1954 Geneva agreements on Viet Nam and said "whoever still attempts to use the Geneva agreements to tie the hands of the Vietnamese people, the Chinese people and the revolutionary people of the world will never succeed."

A similar statement was contained in a message from the Chinese Peoples Political Consultative Conference to North Viet Nam's Fatherland Front.

It said the Soviet revisionist leadership in collusion with the Indian prime minister and the British prime minister, is clamoring for the reconvening of the Geneva conference in an attempt to force the Vietnamese people into accepting peace talks of humiliation and surrender.

"This foreshadows a new Munich in the East being engineered in collaboration by the U.S. and the Soviet Union and is an out-and-out criminal action."

Pilot Escapes

returned to our control in Viet Nam. His next of kin have been notified. The identity of the pilot and all additional details must be withheld at this time for security reasons."

It was learned, however, that after the pilot was sighted, an Air Force "Jolly Green Giant" helicopter was sent from Da Nang to lift him from the jungle. The pilot was flown to the hospital at the Da Nang air base and placed in complete isolation. He will remain under intensive care until he is strong enough to answer questions.

His condition was described as satisfactory, although he evidently is still very weak. He apparently survived in the jungle trek on a meager diet of roots and whatever edibles his survival training had taught him to look for.

The announcement did not give the location of the prison where the pilot had been held. The Communists are known to have some small camps in the demilitarized zone. These are usually way stations where prisoners are held for indefinite periods until they are transferred to the north.

There have been several escapes from such camps and from similar ones in Laos, but they are rare. So far as is known, no one has managed a successful flight from the fetter guarded and more distant camps to the north.

The Dumbarton Oaks Conference is noted for its laying the foundations for the United Nations.

Battle Blazing Bed

Responding to a telephone alarm call Friday night at 6:52 o'clock, Kingston firemen arrived at 595 Delaware Avenue to find a mattress flaming. The tenant of the second story apartment was Ellsworth Lockwood, Engine One and Truck One from Union Hose doused the blaze under the supervision of Captain Harry Sills. Recall was at 7:10 p. m.

President . . .

earlier Indianapolis speech, Johnson said a Communist victory there would only "inspire new aggression in the rest of the world."

He said this must and will not happen and declared:

"However long it takes, we will persist until the Communists and the fighting or negotiating an honorable peace."

Even earlier, before leaving Washington, Johnson helped dedicate a new headquarters for Amvets, a veteran's organization and held out hope that an American success in Viet Nam might end wars forever.

May Be Last

"If we succeed in meeting this latest challenge of force," he said, "it may be that the veterans of Viet Nam will be the last veterans to use this building."

In his text for the civic luncheon here, Johnson said that while the administration is fighting inflation, "the government cannot do it all."

"We must have from labor and business all the restraint and responsibility they expect from government," he said.

Calling attention to the British government's request Wednesday for a freeze on all wages and prices, Johnson said that country's "severe crisis" has grown out of an inflation aggravated by wage rates rising more than twice as fast as productivity—the output of the individual worker.

Urges Caution

Especially because of the "emergency" in Viet Nam, Johnson said, "Your government is asking the leaders of business and labor to act with extra caution and extra concern."

In discussing racial violence, Johnson said the plight of "a small minority of our population" living in poverty without jobs and in miserable housing "is a cause for national concern."

"We have been working to relieve their plight," he said. "All this takes time," he said, because the problem "is to correct the injustice of two centuries."

Johnson said all citizens have a duty to "keep the peace."

"Both law and lawmakers are changed in a democratic society through peaceful means, not through violence," he said.

In the earlier Indianapolis speech, Johnson said the Communists would have seized South Viet Nam already had the United States not stepped in with both feet last year.

Have Not Worked

"So far their adventures in aggression have not worked," he said.

Johnson described Communist Cuba as "on a downhill slide" and said the peoples of Africa and Indonesia have rejected the threat of Communist domination.

"Inside Communist China," he went on, "there is a struggle for power and a great debate on the future of policy. It is obvious that their past policies have failed. In time we hope and believe the mainland Chinese will come to terms with their neighbors and the world."

But he said, "Nothing would bring new heart to their cause quicker than a Communist success in South Viet Nam." He said this must not happen and will not happen.

Today's trip was Johnson's most ambitious speaking tour since the 1964 campaign.

The White House labeled the trip "nonpolitical" and pointedly announced that all governors and Congress members, Republicans as well as Democrats, from the three states plus nearby Tennessee were invited to join the President along the way. All four governors are Democrats.

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson found it "wise and necessary" to get out among the people and explain his policies. As constitutional leader of the armed forces, Moyers said, Johnson also wanted to see some troops and pay tribute to their efforts in Viet Nam.

To emphasize his role as commander-in-chief, Johnson arranged to be accompanied by the Army's highest-ranking enlisted man, Viet Nam veteran William O. Woodruff who recently was installed as sergeant major of the army.

Mayor Gets Life Term

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — An Indonesian military tribunal has sentenced a former air force major to life imprisonment for his role in the abortive Communist-backed coup last October.

The accused, Gatot Sukrisno, was linked to the slaying of six Indonesian generals last October in an air force training camp outside Jakarta, where he was accused of helping train Communist forces.

Cites Soviet Promise

CAIRO (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser says the Soviet Union has promised to build a subway system in traffic-clogged Cairo.

Nasser made the disclosure Friday in a policy speech marking the start of the annual celebration of the revolution that unseated King Farouk in 1952.

Nasser did not disclose details of the proposed subway, but the deal apparently was made during Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin's visit here in May.

were rounded up in pairs, within minutes, but police clamped a tight lid on information.

The man shot was identified as Benoris Toney, 29, a father of five. His wife said he was on the way to pick up a friend at work on the West Side.

He was the 10th victim of gunfire wounds in rioting that has taken three lives and caused heavy damage from fires and looting.

Toney was shot in a parking lot of a lumber company two miles outside the Hough (pronounced "huff") area where most of the rioting has occurred and which police and 1,750 National Guardsmen have sealed off.

Kept Moving

The victim's car was still moving after the shots were fired. Police hunting a sniper in the area were in the parking lot when Toney was shot and took off quickly after the gunman's car.

The shooting heightened fears that riot-weary Cleveland is headed into a bad weekend. The violence Friday night moved nearer to white ethnic pockets in predominantly Negro neighborhoods where racial fighting occurred in 1964.

Police said Toney was struck in the face by a shotgun blast and part of his face had been blown away.

The fifth night of disorder saw police and National Guardsmen covering wider areas and being tougher about it.

More persons were searched. A 9 p. m. curfew was rigidly enforced against youngsters under 16. Small groups of three or four men were dispersed. Suspicious persons were photographed by police on the spot.

Mayor Ralph S. Locher received requests from two Negro councilmen for martial law, a curfew and an increase in the National Guard forces augmenting the city's 2,000 policemen.

The mayor said he expected increased lawlessness over the weekend, but had decided against martial law and a curfew, or call for more guardsmen, however, and Friday night he got a telegram from a group of eight Negro community leaders urging him to request them immediately.

In their first two nights of duty, the guardsmen had been spared much of the derision the Negro crowds directed at police. Friday night the soldiers came in for a full share of taunting. Within two hours after dark 18 persons — 15 of them juveniles — were arrested for harassing the Guard.

A Negro woman screamed at the soldiers that they fired a shot into the air unnecessarily, and a young Guardsman shouted back: "And there will be a hell of a lot more shooting if you don't shut your mouth."

The Guard's commander, Col. Robert Canterbury, repeated an earlier promise the soldiers would not shoot unless fired upon. In that case, he said they would not "shoot to miss."

Funeral will be held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith Avenue, on Monday, July 25 at 10:30 o'clock, thence to St. Joseph's Church where a solemn high Mass of requiem will be offered at 11 a. m. for the repose of her soul. Interment in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends will be received this evening 7 to 9, and Sunday, 2 to 4, and 7 to 9 p. m.

THANT GOES TO MOSCOW

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U. Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, will spend 88 hours in the Soviet Union on his official visit there next week, a spokesman at U.N. headquarters said Friday.

Thant flies to Moscow Sunday. He is expected to talk with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Communist party Secretary-General Leonid I. Brezhnev, the spokesman said.

Diplomats at the U.N. believe some of the subjects to be discussed will be the war in Viet Nam; Thant's indicated indecision over whether to take a second term and the dispute over financing the U.N. peacekeeping operations.

Early Fireworks

The ancient Chinese and Indian firemakers used charcoal and saltpeter to make combustibles similar to those exploded on the Fourth of July. With the addition of sulphur, gunpowder was produced long before invention of the gun.

Prized for Decoration

Rockers are highly prized for decoration in Japan. A prosperous Japanese may pay $4,000 for a rock with an interesting shape or color.

Doing The Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

MAYBE YOU COULD TELL IT BETTER, BUT WAIT—YOUR TURN WILL COME

Dear Mrs. Post: Many times I have started to tell a story and the person I am talking to starts talking about something else. If I started to tell about something that happened, someone butts in and seems to think they can tell it better. To me this is very rude.—Mrs. J. R.

Dear Mrs. J. R.: You are so right. Breaking in on a person's conversation, whether from disinterest or because one thinks he can say it better is the height of rudeness. Being a good listener is every bit as important as being an interesting talker. Husbands and wives have a special tendency to interrupt each other, giving their listeners a feeling that each is trying to out-do the other. Let the other person have his say, uninterrupted, your turn will come!

Don't Speed the Parting Guest

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it polite to urge guests to stay a little longer when they suggest leaving?—Paula.

Dear Paula: Unless the hour is terribly late, it is friendlier to act as if you didn't want your guests to leave the minute they suggest it. You should not insist—they may have a perfectly valid reason—but a warm "Oh, not yet! This is Saturday night," or some such remark makes them feel a great deal more welcome than if you jump up and bring the coats the minute they say, "Well it's getting late..."

Litterbugs Do Get Caught

Dear Mrs. Post: I must take exception to your statement of never having seen nor heard of an arrest for littering. Apparently you are a very busy person who does not find time to read the papers. I have heard of a few arrests and very recently considerable publicity, even in foreign papers, was given to the unique penalty imposed by Justice Schumer of Traverse City.—Vern Tinsler.

Dear Mr. Tinsler: I plead guilty to having missed the publicity in the newspapers about litter-law violators, but I am delighted to hear that they are penalized! Congratulations to Justice Schumer.

Details concerning the remarriage of a widow and divorcee are described in the booklet "Second Marriage." To get a copy, send a dime and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper. (A Bell-McClure Syndicate Feature.)

First Pet Food Consumers

Dogs in England were first to feed upon commercial pet food. That country introduced a dog biscuit 100 years ago. Today, the United States leads in the manufacture of pet foods, producing more than 3.5 billion pounds annually.

Valuable Hides

Poachers killed 50,000 alligators in Florida last year and received an estimated one million black market dollars for the highly prized hides.

Home Extension Service News

The most influential factor of rug quality is the quality of its construction. A simple formula for judging this is "The Deeper, the Denser, the Better," according to Phyllis W. Barlow, extension home economist.

In addition to the depth and density of the pile, other items affecting quality are the yarn ply and weight, and the type and weight of the backing. Price also may indicate quality.

Pile depth is the measurement of the pile alone, not including the backing. Deeper pile will give longer wear. Pile density is the closeness of the pile yarn or tufts. The more tufts in a given area, the less weight each tuft must support. Use the "grin test" when you shop. Bend back a corner of the carpet. If the carpet is of good quality, the backing will not show through the pile or "grin" at you.

Ply is the number of single yarns twisted together into one pile yarn. Do not judge on ply alone as the size and weight of each yarn must be considered. The number of ounces per square yard may be an indication of quality. However, this weight varies with different fibers.

Backing Is Important

Backing is important in the wear life of a rug or carpet. A good backing should be strong and heavy. The most common backing fiber on room-size rugs and carpets is jute. An applied backing of latex was formerly used on most area rugs. New synthetic backings of polypropylene and polyurethane are now appearing on all sizes of rugs and carpet. These synthetics will not skid, are mildew proof and will not deteriorate or crumble when washed, making them especially desirable on area rugs. They permit more accurate tufting in making patterns; they will not stain the pile yarns as jute often does, and some may be dyed to match the pile. These synthetics have high resiliency, or bounce, thus prolonging the wear-life and increasing the foot comfort.

Some carpeting has a double backing. The primary backing may be synthetic while the secondary backing is usually jute. Regular carpet padding is still recommended under large rugs and wall-to-wall carpets made with this synthetic backing.

Price may be an indication of quality. However, close-out sales, mill-end sales and special discounts are often available. In comparing prices, always compare the retail rather than the sales prices. Low retail price may mean that lower quality fiber rather than carpet quality fiber has been used.

Before deciding on the quality of the rug or carpet to buy, consider the type and amount of wear it will receive. Medium-to-high quality construction is recommended for heavy traffic areas, medium quality for moderately used areas and medium-to-low quality may be sufficient for little used areas.

Paltz College Will Hold Book Exhibit

Books on Exhibit, the national traveling exhibit of the past year's children's publications, will be on display at the Campus School Library, State University College, New Paltz, July 27 through Aug. 5 from 8:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

This year's display, the 15th annual collection, will feature over 850 volumes representing 60 leading publishers of children's literature.

Free catalogs, annotated and indexed, and curricula-related with National Defense Education Act listings, will be available at the exhibit to teachers from throughout the Mid-Hudson region.

Take a Short Rest

Driver fatigue and speed go hand in hand. The Auto Club of New York reports that, as a driver gets weary, he often becomes impatient to reach his destination. Thus, he increases his speed at a time when his alertness decreases. The best solution is to pull off the highway for a short rest stop.

Miss Elizabeth Jean Shann Will Wed Michael Warhola; Both Local People

MISS ELIZABETH JEAN SHANN

Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph Shann Jr. of 233 Lucas Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Jean to Robert Michael Warhola, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Warhola of 80 Marlus Street, both of Kingston.

The bride-elect is a senior at Kingston High School. Mr. Warhola graduated from Kingston High School, attended Ulster County Community College and is employed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Birth Announcements

Births recorded recently by the city registrar include two sets of twins.

They are: Kevin Patrick and Keith Alan born to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Leonard Gage, of 155 Washington Avenue, at Kingston Hospital July 15, and Christine Marie and Lisa Ann born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas John Cioni, of 450 Delaware Avenue, at the Benedictine Hospital July 18.

Other births:

Point Band Will Feature Tiajuana Brass Music 31st

West Point — The sound of the Tiajuana Brass will echo at West Point as the U. S. Military Academy presents its fifth program in the series of outdoor summer concerts, Music Under the Stars. The public is invited free of charge to the concert of band music at the Trophy Point Amphitheater, West Point, on July 31, at 8 p. m.

The program, conducted by Chief Warrant Officer John P. Cochran, will include, in addition to traditional March Music, a selection of popular music and a special arrangement by William Russell called The Sound of the Tiajuana Brass featuring that Famous Band's popular hits.

24 Given Fitness Awards at First Jay Cee Cee Week

Twenty-four campers won youth fitness achievement awards as Camp Jay Cee Cee closed its first two-week term last week.

The camp, located on Hurley Mountain Road, opened its 15th season with 90 campers. It will continue until the end of August.

The theme for the past period, physical fitness, placed emphasis on competitive games such as softball, volleyball, basketball and horseshoe pitching. Those achieving the standards set down by the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation included: Victor Ronder, Jeff Werbalowsky, Gary Pinsky, Mark Neporent, Kim Basch, Renie Samuels, Janine Dressel, Bruce Snyder, Greg Tuckman, John Conrad, Eric Greenwald, Jay Werbalowsky, Linda Jacobs, Tracy Meyer, Duane Clinton, Steve Levinson, Ricky Ahrens, Jay Andretta, Eric Werbalowsky, Norman Rachmilowitz, Jeff Gally, Vincent Zacheo, Jo Ann Rose and Andrea Turco.

A colorful parade of champions and a track meet concluded the theme.

The spacious camp swimming pool, which overlooks the Hurley valley, continues to be one of the most popular places during the hot weather. Proficiency in water skills gained badges for the following campers:

Turtle badges: Donna Dressel, Jeff Gally, Linda Jacobs, Norman Rachmilowitz, Ricky Ahrens, Marjorie Gruberg, Susan Marcus, Lee Kalish, Vincent Zacheo, Elizabeth Neporent, Mario Marmo, Lisa Marmo, Shelly Lemco, David Trast, Danny Farber, Jonathan Schneiderman and Jill Fahey.

Frog badges: Ricky Ahrens, Linda Jacobs, Donna Dressel, Lee Kalish, David Trast, Lisa Marmo, Maria Marmo and Jonathan Schneiderman.

Swan badges: Amy Lipton, Lenore Rose, Carol Siller, Richard Neporent, Lewis Ratner, Scott Serinsky and Norman Rachmilowitz.

Advanced Aquatics: Ronald Segal.

Nature and history is the theme for the current period. Campers are working on nature projects with prizes going to the outstanding group.

Parents interested in sending their children to Camp Jay Cee Cee may either call or visit the camp any time, Monday through Friday.

The camp is under the directorship of Ronnie Cole with Dean Bullock as program director. Camp Jay Cee Cee is the summer day camp sponsored by the Kingston Jewish Community Center.

To Prove Impact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Economic Development Administration plans to study the economic impact on the town of Cochection, Sullivan County, N.Y., from a fire that destroyed the Green Acres Hotel.

The agency said Friday that results of the study would be used to determine whether the owners of the hotel are eligible for a disaster loan from the Small Business Administration.

In addition, the administration reported that 50 small retailers in the vicinity of the hotel had cited business losses ranging up to 75 per cent after the fire.

Tungsten, used for electric light filaments, is the element with the highest melting point.

Dear Abby . . .

Love and Respect Make Fine Family Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is to tell you about a letter you never received. Some time ago I received a call from my son's third grade teacher asking me to stop in at school to discuss a letter my son had written in letter-writing class. It was addressed to YOU. It read:

"Dear Abby,
My dad works all the time. He is never home. He gives me money and lots of toys, but I hardly ever see him. I love him and wish he would not work all the time so I could see him more."
(signed) Danny"

That was the entire letter. Abby, I grew up during the depression and wanted my children to have it better than I did, so I worked one full time job and two part time jobs, which almost doubled my income. I managed to provide my wife and two sons with many luxuries, but I realized after reading Danny's letter that I had deprived them of something more important than material things. Myself. And my time. I took stock of myself and was ashamed of what I discovered.

For instance, I had never attended a report card conference, nor visited school. Took no part in scouting, although both sons were Cub Scouts. I had never reprimanded my sons. This responsibility was entirely their mother's. Sometimes days would pass without seeing the boys awake. Because of the standards I had set for my family, I felt I couldn't lower those standards without first discussing it with them, so we held a family meeting. The result: I quit both part time jobs and we adjusted our standard of living accordingly.

That was nearly two years ago and now I have discovered what a wonderful family I have. I have earned the respect of my sons. But more important, I have learned that the greatest gift a man can give his children is himself, his time and his love. Today I am a happy man, and I want to thank you, Abby, because if it were not for the letter my son wrote to you, I might never have known what I was missing. (sign me) DAD

DEAR ABBY: I have heard some very intelligent married people say that 99 per cent of the married couples cheat on each other. Is that true?

SHELLY
DEAR SHELLY: No. But it's a pretty safe bet that those who say that 99 per cent of the married couples cheat, do.

DEAR ABBY: How can a mother-in-law win? My daughter-in-law started acting very cool and distant to me, as though something was bothering her. I debated whether to ask her if I had done or said something to make her mad at me. Then I decided that maybe something was troubling her that was none of my business, and if I asked her what was on her mind she might get the idea that I was prying.

So I pretended not to notice. Well, my son called me from his place of work this morning and told me that his wife was very put out with me for not asking her what was wrong. In your opinion, Abby, should I have asked her?

CAN'T WIN
DEAR CAN'T: No. If something troubles one, the troubled one should come out with it. Obvious sulking, in hopes of being drawn out is childish. You don't say how old your daughter-in-law is, but I hope she is very young because she has a lot of growing up to do.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NO GOOD" IN WAUSAU: You're better than you think you are: The more things a man is ashamed of, the more respectable he is.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.00 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

Susan Ilene Chapin Will Wed Ellenville Attorney; December Wedding Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Chapin of Ellenville announce the engagement of their daughter Susan Ilene, to Attorney Herbert Weinsoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Osher Weinsoff of Ellenville.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Ellenville High School and is a junior at Long Island University.

Mr. Weinsoff is an alumnus of the Ellenville High School, University of Buffalo and Brooklyn Law School. He has done graduate work at Brooklyn Law School and State University in New Paltz. Mr. Weinsoff is Justice of the Peace in the Town of Wawarsing and a member of the Ellenville-Ulster County and New York State Bar Association as well as the Ulster County and New York State Magistrate's Association.

Mr. Weinsoff holds membership in the Wawarsing Lodge 582, Masons; Elks Lodge No. 1971; Maratanza 50, IOOF; Newburgh Forest 50, Tall Cedars of Lebanon; and serves as president of the Town of Wawarsing Democratic Club.

Mr. Weinsoff practices law with his brothers in the law firm of Weinsoff and Weinsoff in Ellenville.

A December wedding is planned.

New Shop-Rite Store Will Open Wednesday

A brand new Shop-Rite Supermarket will open Wednesday July 27 in Bernardsville, N. J., at Route 202 near Finley Avenue. The store is the fourth Shop-Rite owned and operated by the Stirling Operating Co.

The huge new store will have many special features complementing its complete food supermarket. An in-store bakery will provide a wide selection of fresh cakes, pies, cookies and pastry. The Bernardsville Shop-Rite will also have a complete service appetizer and delicatessen department.

Other special features include a customer's "oasis," consisting of a variety of snack vending machines, a discount health and beauty aids department and a housewares and soft goods department.

Further promoting the "shopping convenience" theme of the 28,000 square foot store will be ten high-speed check-out counters and parking facilities for over 300 cars.

United Nations stamps are valid for postage, but only on mail deposited at UN headquarters in New York City.

Highland Advances to Semi-Finals of Little League Tourney

Rondout, Esopus, Fallsburgh Also Gain Victories

Highland, a Little League power each year in the District 16 tournament, advanced to the semi-finals of this year's competition with a 6-0 win over Ellenville Friday at the Kingston National Little League diamond.

In other action, Rondout Valley scored an eighth inning run to nip the Kingston Americans, 5-4; Esopus nipped Hurley, 2-1, and Fallsburgh stopped Kerhonkson-Accord, 8-3.

The semi-final pairings for Monday will have Kerhonkson playing Esopus at Ellenville and Rondout Valley opposing Highland at Hurley. Winners will clash next Wednesday at a site to be determined.

Roy Jacobs hurled a four-hitter for Highland. The winners scored three runs in the first inning and were never threatened. Mike Sisico, who homered and Jacobs had two singles. Reginald Avery doubled for Ellenville.

Wins With Home Run
Huyler VanWagenen slammed an eighth inning home run to give Rondout its victory. The winners had knotted the game in the sixth after trailing by a 4-0 count as late as the fourth inning.

Tom Triscari's base hit drove in what proved to be the winning run for Esopus. Tony DeCicco homered for the winners and Gary Piccoli swatted a pair of doubles.

Fallsburgh scored seven runs in the sixth inning and stopped a Kerhonkson-Accord rally which netted three in the last of the frame.

Butch Hobby was the winning chucker on a four-hitter. The winners had eight safeties.

Between you'n me
BY MURRAY OLDERMAN
SPORTS EDITOR
NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSOCIATION

Pete Gogolak, the Hungarian place kicker who unwittingly (or otherwise) caused the greatest upheaval in pro football history when he jumped leagues and spurred a merger, claims to be blissfully oblivious to the impact of his move. "Playing out my option with the Buffalo Bills," he shrugs, "was for personal reasons, I'm not aware it meant more than that."

But Pete does confess that there was a period of a couple of weeks before his agent (Fred Corcoran) negotiated a contract with the New York Giants when he experienced the feeling of insecurity at not having a job at all.

In the camp of the Giants at Fairfield, Conn., Pete has amazed the coaches with the concentrated exercise that goes into his kicking routines. With his father, a doctor and sports buff, and brother Charley (the No. 1 draft choice of the Washington Redskins), Pete worked out a strengthening drill in which he balances a soccer ball on his outstretched right foot, then kicks it repeatedly nonstop, without ever letting his foot touch the ground. His record so far is 1,500 straight taps with his foot, a maneuver Pete estimates took him 20 minutes.

"You ought to see," he says, "what it does for the muscles in both my legs." He does it every day in camp.

The only other exercise indulged in by the soccer-style kicker is running, also to build stamina. "The toughest part is concentration," he says, "to concentrate for 60 minutes, and then you come in cold, and you only have one chance. There's nothing else like it in sports."

Butch Hobby was the winning chucker on a four-hitter. The winners had eight safeties.

Elmer's Stops Herzog's, 6-1, Behind Bach

Brian Pitches Five-Hit Game

Brian Bach, the hottest baseball property in town, hurled a sparkling five-hitter and belted three hits to lead Elmer's Inn to a 6-1 City League triumph over Herzog's last night at Dietz Stadium.

The winners scored three times in the third frame off Gary Hawkins, highlighted by the two-run homer by Dan McGrane.

Bach had a shutout until the sixth. He gave up all singles, walked four and struck out eight. Hawkins was touched for 10 hits, issued four walks and had 10 strikeouts.

Bach collected three straight singles. Dennis Bart had a triple. Len Whitten stroked two safeties for the losers.

Braves to Play Sunday Contest At Newburgh

Still unbeaten after four games, the Kingston Braves take to the road Sunday, meeting the Newburgh Rookies in a 2 o'clock game at Recreation Park in the Hill City.

The Braves walloped Newburgh, 16-3, several weeks ago at Dietz Stadium and will be anxious to score another win.

Manager Paul Giannuzzi has either Ron Thomas or Lonnie McAndrew set to hurl against the home side. Brian Bach, who threw a no-hitter last week against Paterson is also available.

Mrs. Boddie Set For Final Match

BARRINGTON, Ill. (AP) — "Golf is a science, and I just hope I don't drop the test tube."

That is how Barbara Fay Boddie summed up her 36-hole match for the Women's Western Amateur Golf Championship today against teen-ager Peggy Conley, a University of Washington art student from Spokane.

Mrs. Boddie, 26, daughter of a Shreveport, La., golf pro and wife of his assistant, seeks to become the first Western Amateur winner in three consecutive years since Bessie Anthony did it starting with the tournament's 1901 inaugural.

She has been six under par for the entire meet over the rolling Barrington Hills Country Club course after setting a competitive course record of a five-under 71 to capture medalist honors.

Mrs. Boddie defeated 17-year-old Jane Hunsberger of Camarillo, Calif., 5 and 4 in Friday's semifinals.

Peggy had to rally in eliminating Sharron Moran of Carlsbad, Calif., 2 and 1.

Little Leaguer Hurt

While playing ball in a Little League All-Star game with the Highland team at 6:15 p. m. Friday at Kingman Park, Carlos Rodriguez, 11, of Highland, fell and sustained a leg injury. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambrose. Highland was playing Ellenville at the time of the mishap.

plays, gave Richmond its opening game triumph over Pete Magrini, who gave up just four hits. Two were by Gil Garrido, who scored one run and drove in the other. Stan Waslewski threw a six-hitter in the nightcap and basted Pat Jarvis when Mike Pegte doubled home the tying and winning runs in the eighth.

Columbus pounded out 15 hits in back of Wood's three-hit hurling in its opener, George Spriggs collecting four safeties. Blanked on three hits by Leo Marentette for 7 2-3 innings in the nightcap, the Jets scored three times on two walks, Jack Demaska's double, another walk and Jack Price's single.

Ed Barnowski pitched a five-hitter for Rochester's straight victory, and the Red Wings backed him up with 14 hits. Rochester put the game away with five runs in the first inning.

A six-hitter by Jim Duffalo carried Buffalo past Jacksonville. Leo Boehmer doubled home the first two Bison runs in the third, and Frank Oregon bled home two more as the Bengals scored three times in the fourth.

Swoboda Leads Mets Against LA

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Mets have quit messing around with Ron Swoboda, and now he's messing around with everyone else.

Swoboda, who complained last month that the Mets were restricting his effectiveness by playing him irregularly, hit a two-run homer that sealed the Mets' latest victory.

Aided Giants Wins

In New York's two previous games, both with San Francisco, Swoboda hit a 10th-inning homer that gave the Mets a 3-2 victory — rapped three hits — and drove in three runs in their 14-3 triumph.

The 22-year-old slugger has been playing every day recently, which is what he felt he should have been doing the entire season.

"They've been messing around with me," Swoboda complained about six weeks ago. "They messed around with me at the end of last season, and they've been doing it again. If you have to sit around and not play for three days, you might as well quit."

It's the young guys who are going to make this ball club. But how's a young player supposed to learn when he's in and out? I've only batted against a couple of righties. You can't learn that way. If I have to be platooned, I'll look for something else to do."

The Giants and Dodgers wouldn't mind that at all. While the Mets remained one-half game out of eighth and moved to within one game of seventh, the Giants climbed to within two percentage points of first place in the National League by defeating Philadelphia 4-1 behind Gaylord Perry, who pitched a two-hitter and

Kingston Lions Nip Masons, 3-2

Tom Gallo hurled a seven-hitter as the Lions Club nipped the Masons, 3-2, in a Babe Ruth League game Friday at the Athletic Field.

The winners tallied the tie breaker in the eighth inning after the Masons had knotted the contest with two markers in the sixth.

Gallo walked four and fanned three. Loser Ralph Perry had six strikeouts and he walked five.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
TOWN OF ULSTER PROPOSED ORDINANCE FOR REGULATION OF AUTOMOBILE JUNK YARDS IN THE TOWN OF ULSTER

Said proposed Ordinance in general terms would regulate the location and operation of a Junk Yard in the Town of Ulster, New York, meaning any place of storage or deposit, whether in connection with another business or not, where two or more unregistered, old, or second-hand motor vehicles, no longer intended or in condition for legal use on the public highways, are held, whether for the purpose of resale of used parts therefrom, for the purpose of reclaiming, for use some all of the materials therein; and shall include any place of storage or deposit for any such purposes of used parts or waste materials from motor vehicles, which taken together,
Two Hundred ($200.00) Dollars or more, provided, however, the term junk yard shall not be construed to mean an establishment having facilities for processing iron, steel or non-ferrous scrap and whose principal product is scrap iron, steel or non-ferrous scrap for sale for remelt-ing purposes only.

Said proposed ordinance provides that a license must be secured and as a certificate of approval for the location of such junk yard.

Said ordinance provides for certain fees for licensing and for certain restrictions as to fencing and operation of such junk yard.

Said ordinance declares that a violation of this ordinance shall be punishable by a fine of not more than Two Hundred ($200.00) Dollars or by imprisonment for not more than Thirty (30) Days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

A copy of said proposed ordinance is on file in the office of the Town Clerk.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a public hearing upon said proposed ordinance will be held at the Lake
Katrine Town Hall, Lake Katrine,
New York, on the 4th day of August, 1966 at 7:30 o'clock P. M.
Daylight Saving Time and at that time and place there shall be an opportunity to be heard in regard thereto will then and there be given to those favoring passage of such proposed ordinance and to those opposed thereto.

Nickerson . . .

not the way to attack narcotics.
Every effort should be turned toward stopping its import into New York. This narcotics problem has only been acute since after the Second World War, around 1945-46.

"The reason it's been so acute is that narcotics are so readily available to addicts and would-be addicts. I propose to cut off this import."

Nickerson also dwelled on air and water pollution problems, especially water pollution. He said, "I've heard it said that the Hudson River is an open sewer.
In some areas, it is an open statement. I propose attacking pollution at its source, the polluters. Under Rockefeller's administration, less than 10 per cent of the known polluters were prosecuted. I can sympathize with industry. It's expensive to install filters and other devices to hold down pollution. I would propose state aid to these industries to help them finance their anti-pollution programs."

The flight of industry and the lack of new industry in the state was one of Nickerson's main criticisms against the Republican administration. "In 1958 our per capita income was $5 billion more than any state in the union."

Margin Gone

"That margin has disappeared under Rockefeller. If I am elected governor I intend to sell
New York State. I will be a full time governor and not spend two days a month in Albany like Rockefeller does. I intend to appoint a high state governmental official, say the lieutenant governor, to travel the country and personally attract industry to New York."

One of the things that attracts industry, according to Nickerson, is higher education. "Our higher education has failed to keep pace with the rest of the nation, he said. Almost 80 per cent of our high school graduates are turned down by our state university.
Every high school graduate should have the opportunity to further his education, and it should be free. Rockefeller's tuition plan is ridiculous. The total cost of the State University is about $11 million or 14 per cent of the state budget. I intend to abolish this tuition plan of Rockefeller's. We

Report from Space

Man's venture into space is still less than a decade old, yet already it is yielding results of practical use in his everyday life. One is a vastly more precise system of weather forecasting employing satellites 750 miles above the earth.
Television-type cameras photograph the entire earth every 24 hours. The satellites' signals are picked up by ground stations. Photos of cloud formations and statistical weather data are flashed across a special weather communications network, enabling meteorologists to plot movement of weather fronts precisely and forecast storms days in advance.

At the National Environmental Satellite Center, Suitland, Md., a technician examines individual pictures from satellites into a photomosaic weather map.

Arthur Johnson, National Environmental Satellite Center director, examines a photomosaic map showing weather conditions around the entire world.

Resnick Assails

There are burdens to be borne and prices to be paid, but I am sure that the American people will not tire in their effort to achieve a just and secure peace in Viet Nam."

The Congressman will introduce a joint resolution in Congress on Monday which outlines his position and will request that the President convey its content to the Communist regime in North Viet Nam, to participants in the Geneva Conferences and to the member states of the United Nations.

Note Resolution

The text of the resolution follows:

"That all U. S. military personnel held captive in Viet Nam are prisoners of war entitled to all the benefits of the Geneva Conventions of 1949;

"That the trial, punishment or execution of any such personnel by the Communist regime in North Viet Nam would be contrary to the Geneva Conventions of 1949, accepted concepts of international law, and standards of international behavior;

"That any such action undertaken by the Communist regime in North Viet Nam in regard to U. S. military personnel would be an inhumanitarian act and a reprehensible offense against the peoples of the world and would be contrary to the interests of North Viet Nam;

"That the trial, punishment, or execution of such U. S. personnel by the Communist regime in North Viet Nam would seriously diminish the opportunity for the achievement of a just and secure peace in Viet Nam and Southeast Asia, which is the objective of the people of the United States.

"The President of the United States is hereby requested to convey the sense of the Congress expressed in this resolution to the Communist regime in North Viet Nam, to the participating states in the Geneva Conferences of 1954 and 1962, to the states
adhering to the 1949 Geneva Conventions, and to the member states of the United Nations."

Killed on Thruway

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—Thomas J. Palaimo, 18, of Utica, was killed in a two-car collision on the State Thruway Friday night.

State Police said the passing-lane accident occurred as the automobile in which Palaimo was riding attempted to enter westbound traffic from the center mall.

Troopers were investigating.
Palaimo lived on Trenton Road.

Nenni Seen as Leader

ROME (AP)—The director of Italy's Socialist

the combined party.

Yanks Hit Entrenched Viet Cong

Marines were tracking down the North Vietnamese 324th Division in jungle-covered mountains.

The Marines reported scattered contact with the North Vietnamese. In the largest of these, they fought a five-hour action and killed 25 Communists.

Although the official enemy death toll from Operation Hastings is considerably lower, the Marines estimated the Communist dead at more than 1,000 and said they have scattered the North Vietnamese division.

The Marines took moderate casualties in the Friday night action, the spokesman said. But over-all U.S. casualties have been described as light.

Intelligence reports said the commander of the North Vietnamese Division is a political commissar named Gen. Nguyen Uang.

Report Escape

The U. S. command also announced today that a Navy lieutenant who was captured by the Communists after his plane was shot down more than six months ago escaped from prison and was spotted in the jungle and rescued after 23 days of fleeing through difficult terrain. He was reported suffering severe malnutrition and shock, but his condition is described as satisfactory. For security reasons, his name was not disclosed.

In Saigon, Thich (Venerable) Hue Hong, a 24-year-old Buddhist monk whose gasoline soaked robes caught fire at a political meeting of anti-government groups, died Friday night.
On the surface it seemed to be another case of self-immolation, but police said the monk told them he thought someone had tried to kill him. Militant Buddhist leaders said, however, that

Sky Clears After Rain, Hail Slams Midwest, Rockies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers diminished in scattered sections and more pleasant weather prevailed in most of the nation today.

Temperatures during the early morning ranged in the 60s and 70s in most parts of the country.

Heavy rain fell Friday and during the night in parts of the South, the Midwest and the Rockies.

A severe wind, rain and hail storm swept the area of Gillette in northeastern Wyoming. Several persons were injured and buildings and crops were damaged. The storm caused a gas line to rupture in the eastern part of the town of 4,500 and broke power lines throughout the area. Homes were evacuated for fear of a gas explosion. Winds were reported at 80 miles an hour. Several funnel clouds were sighted outside the community.

Nearly three inches of rain doused La Junta, Colo., and more than 1½ inches splashed Mobile, Ala. Lighter amounts were reported in parts of the Midwest. Rain also damped areas in Florida, Louisiana and Texas. Early morning readings ranged from 50 at Arcata, Calif., to 93 at Blythe, Calif.

Business Week in Review

By GEORGE TAYLOR

NEW YORK (AP) — Some key economic indicators pointed down this past week, but there were other signs business would boom along as usual.

Reports during the week showed new orders for durable goods and housing starts dropped in June. The rate of growth of the gross national product dipped, construction spending fell. And steel production was off.

Rise in Exports

On the plus side were a rise in exports, record industrial production, a flock of rosy earnings reports — many of them records — and two midyear surveys forecasting continued strength in the economy. Personal income in June climbed $3.4 billion to a record $576.4 billion at an annual rate. But living costs also went up three-tenths of one per cent, rounding out the biggest six months of rising prices in eight years.

The rise brought living costs up 1.7 per cent the first half of 1966. It lifted the government's consumer price index to 112.9, meaning it took $11.29 in June to buy consumer items worth $10 in the base period of 1957-59.

The airline strike, heading into its third week, cast a lengthening shadow over some sectors of the economy as President Johnson prodded the negotiators.

Housing Decreased

Housing starts during June dropped to their lowest level in more than five years — falling to an annual rate of 1,288,000. It was the third straight monthly drop in housing starts which totaled 1,542,700 last year.

The drop prompted the National Association of Home

Builders to call a meeting in Washington for July 27 to lobby for more mortgage money and discuss depressed housing conditions. The association has said the industry was a sacrificial goat in the administration's drive to stem inflation.

At a news conference, President Johnson said "we're seriously concerned with the plight of the home builders." He suggested Congress act on a Treasury-proposed bill setting a temporary ceiling on interest rates that banks and savings and loan associations — a key source of mortgage money — pay to small savers.

New orders for durable goods dropped slightly during June to $21.1 billion on an annual basis. This compares with a rate of $24.2 billion during both April and May. The factory orders are a key guide to future output. Meanwhile, the backlog of unfilled orders continued to rise.

GNP Is Lower

Second quarter growth of the gross national product, the nation's total output of goods and services, was $10.8 billion, well below the pace of the two preceding quarters. Growth had averaged $17 billion in the first quarter of 1966 and the first quarter of this year.

In June, construction spending dropped to an annual rate of $73.697,000,000. It trailed May's $74 billion and April's $76.8 billion.

Steel production dipped to 2,469,000 tons last week, down from the previous week's 2,484,000 tons.

The boom took on added glow from a report that exports climbed 5 per cent in June — their best month since March and the second best total of the year. June's exports hit a level of $2,485,000,000, excluding Defense Department shipments.

Had Rosy Reports

The rosy earnings reports came from some of the nation's top corporations, including Du Pont, IBM, Xerox, RCA, Polaroid, U.S. Rubber and Westinghouse.

Industrial production reached a record in June. The Federal Reserve Board's seasonally adjusted industrial output index hit 155.8 per cent of the 1957-59 average last month, up from May's 155 per cent.

A prediction of continued strength in the economy came from the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York. In a monthly publication, the bank said, "Prospects are good that business activity will continue to rise over the remainder of the year. The unresolved issue of the eventual size of the war in Viet Nam is an enormously complicating consideration. So too is the uncertain impact of the tightening monetary situation."

In another analysis, Johns-Manville Corp., a leading construction materials firm, indicated construction expenditures this year should reach a record $100 billion.

Two Persons Are Hurt in Mishaps On Area Highways

Two persons were injured and a motorist was cited for a vehicle and traffic law violation as the result of highway mishaps in the area investigated Friday and early today by Kingston State Police.

Michael Garcia, 12, of West Hurley, was injured at 11 p. m. Friday when the car in which he was a passenger was in collision with another vehicle on Witchtree Road, Woodstock, according to Kingston State Police.

Trooper Robert Molloy reported the boy was riding in a car operated by Cynthia Rose, 30, West Hurley, when it was in collision with a vehicle driven by Fritz Salin, 77, also of West Hurley.

The boy sustained bruises of the forehead. Troopers said Salin was pulling out of a private driveway at the time of the crash.

Barry Fraser, 19, of 16 Harwich Street, was injured at 11:45 p. m. Friday when his car failed to negotiate a right curve on Route 212 at Zena Road and hit a tree. Sergeant Charles Bundschuh said Fraser was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for a fractured right thumb. He was cited by Trooper Fred Cooper for improper turning.

Robert Palmer, 22, Coxsackie, escaped injury at 3:10 a. m. today when his car was hit by another vehicle that did not stop. The mishap occurred on Route 9W Town of Saugerties. Troopers are seeking the hit-and-run vehicle.

Cars driven by Wilfred Royo, 25, of Park Avenue, New York City, and Robert L. Bruhn, 19, of 35 Jefferson Avenue, city, were involved in collision at 12:05 a. m. today on Route 28A, according to Sergeant Bundschuh. The vehicles were traveling in opposite directions. No injuries were listed by troopers.

Henry Ammoner, 61, of Little Silver, N. J., escaped injury when his car hit and killed a deer on Route 28, Town of Olive. Troopers said the man didn't take the deer.

Killed on Birthday

FORT COVINGTON, N. Y. (AP) — Andrew Seymour of nearby Roosevelt, who turned 24 today, was killed at about 1 a. m. when the automobile in which he was riding hurtled down an embankment and rolled over twice.

Police said the convertible went off the road on a curve, traveled 350 feet on the right shoulder, careened over the highway for 100 feet and went down the embankment on the left side. Seymour was pinned under the vehicle.

The accident occurred about a mile from this village near the U.S.-Canadian border.

4 Killed in Crash

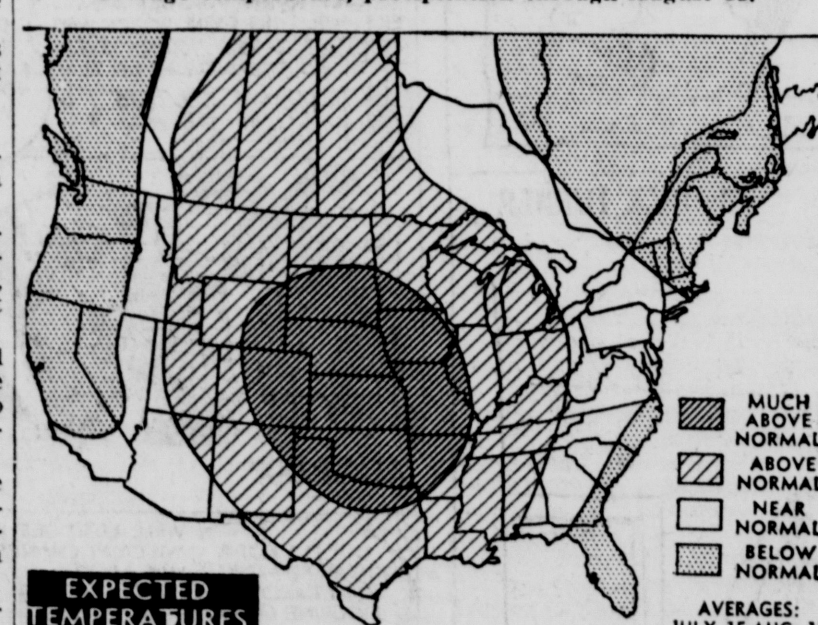

MIDDLETOWN, N.J. (AP) — A tractor-trailer failed to stop at a red light Friday night, police said, starting an accident involving four cars that killed four persons in one of the autos, including a Catholic priest.

The four victims all were from Staten Island, N.Y. Police identified them as the Rev. Thomas D. Ford, 27, assistant pastor at the Sacred Heart Church on Staten Island; two sisters, Eleanor Donohue, 46, and Jane Donohue, 36, and Adele Junquet, 64, all from West Brighton, Staten Island.

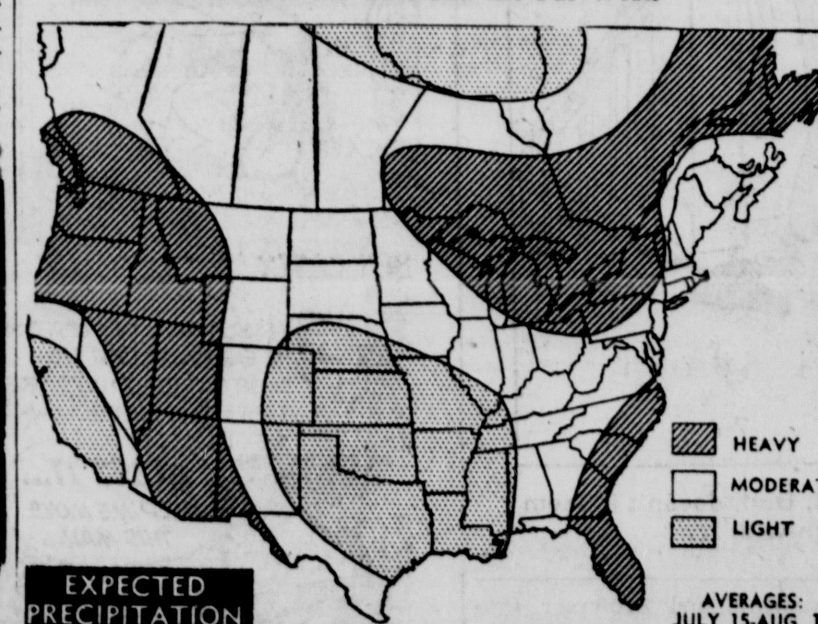

More than a quarter-million beetle species have been described. They are the most numerous of any insect species.

Soaring Summer

Maps show Weather Bureau's estimated forecast of average temperature, precipitation through August 15.

It should be warmer than usual over most of the area between the Continental Divide and the Appalachians but cooler in both the East and the Far West.

Central and Southern Plains promise to be drier than usual while above-normal rainfall is expected west of the Divide, over the Great Lakes and in the Southeast.

New Split-Level Has Third Level For Bedroom

By JACK McLENEY

The degree of popularity with which American families have received the split-level type of home is assurance that this home has become permanently fixed in the hearts of homeowners. Accordingly, a split-level house has become a good investment, in style as well as other ways.

Where a split-level home once required a hilly site, this is no longer true. For example, Associated Architects' newest house plan, "The Verban," is equally adaptable to flat ground — at a substantial saving on grading cost. "The Verban" offers a lot of space on a comparatively small overall dimension.

Living quarters are located on the ground level; living room, kitchen and dining room are grouped on one floor, as it were, because these rooms are related in use and function. Sleeping quarters, on the other hand, are several steps higher, bringing greater privacy to occupants than in a single-level home.

Let's take a look at some of the high spots of this plan, and then I'll tell you how you may obtain the blueprints at moderate cost. You'll notice from that floor plan, that all rooms have an "open" look. You don't get the feeling of being hemmed-in. It is as true of the spacious living room and the bedrooms, as well as the combinations of rooms in the living section. The 9½ by 13 foot kitchen, galley-shaped to make the most of existing area, is also a step saver because the appliances, cabinets and counters are within steps of each other.

There's something to be said for open space in relation to the appetizing aroma of cooling food. What nicer sensation at mealtime when you come into a house and smell a good meal in preparation.

The full dining room, with its double window for natural light and ventilation, makes meal-times even more delightful. There's plenty of room for table and chairs here.

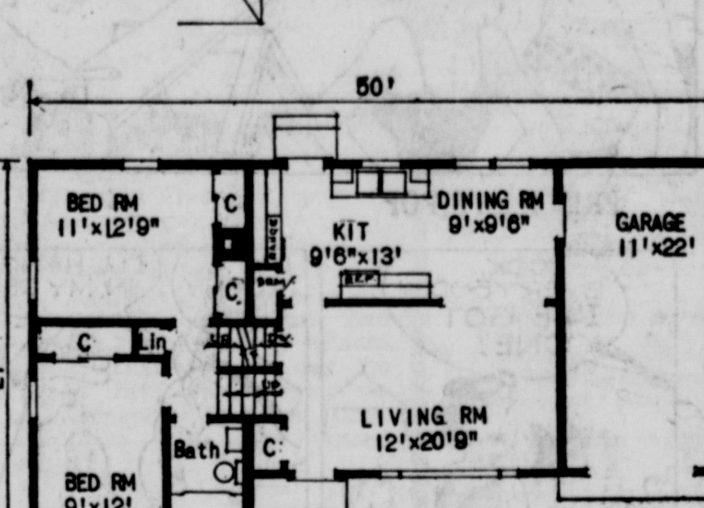

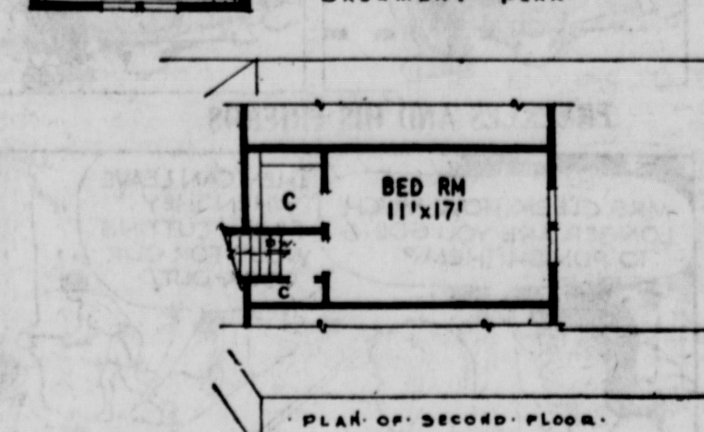

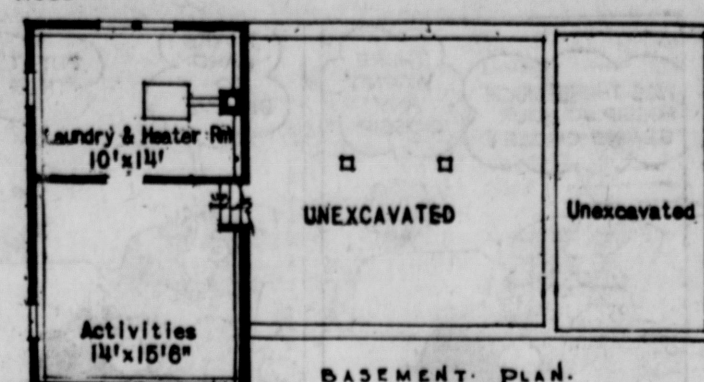

"The Verban" goes beyond the usual kind of split-level home in that it has a third level. This is used to provide a third bedroom and additional storage space. All three bedrooms have ample closet space. (Elsewhere there are sufficient closets to take care of the storage needs of most families.) The third-level bedroom is directly over the living room.

You'll want to know about the basement. The plan of "The Verban" calls for a basement beneath the second-level bedrooms only. It is divided into a laundry-heater room and an activities room. There's more than enough space in the laundry room for all of the equipment—washer, dryer and ironer. The activities room is ready-made for the more boisterous gatherings you'd rather not have in the living room.

Total living space in "The Verban" is 1,140 square feet; add to this 240 square feet for the garage and 350 square feet for the laundry and activities room.

These figures, together with the blueprint, will enable you to obtain firm cost estimates, and if you decide to build, the same plans may be used by the contractor. Blueprints may be ordered by filling in the accompanying coupon. Your order will also bring you a set of specifications to help protect your investment. The artist's sketch shows this attractive home built with wood siding, but your plans also show how brick veneer or concrete block may be used.

FULL WEEK'S TV LISTINGS OF TV PROGRAMS — JULY 24th THRU JULY 30th

His 'Mom' Is Jean Arthur

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD—Ron Harper contemplated his new television role as Jean Arthur's son with the laughing observation, "I figure I'll spend half my time acting and the other half answering the question, 'What is Jean Arthur really like?'"

It has been 12 years now since the talented Jean Arthur retired to Carmel, Calif., after appearing in the movie "Shane." Last season she played a guest role in Gunsmoke and this fall, surprisingly, she accepted a weekly CBS-TV series The Jean Arthur Show, playing a brilliant, flamboyant attorney who shares an office with her son, also an attorney.

As a movie star for 20 years, Miss Arthur shunned press interviews with the same fervor as Greta Garbo. Her return to the cameras for Gunsmoke was accompanied by a complete press blackout, which now is being maintained for her weekly series.

"What is she really like," young Harper grinned after a month of working with her behind closed and guarded sound stage doors.

"Let me say first of all that she's a charming lady, innocent and guileless, who apparently harbors a deep shyness. The first day on the set she was concerned about a nick on my face, from shaving. She asked me, 'Did you cut yourself shaving?' and when I explained that I had she was concerned about whether I had used the proper antiseptic pencil to stop the bleeding.

"On the day we made the pilot it was raining and she asked me, 'Where's your raincoat?' When I told her I forgot it, she threatened me, 'I'm going to write your mother—you could get pneumonia.' When I kidded her about not wearing a raincoat to work either, she said, 'Oh, I have a raincoat. It cost me $70. I never wear it because it cost so much—I'm afraid it might get wet.'"

One day Harper, in casual conversation with her, mentioned that he had been on his college boxing team. Her immediate action to this, "Promise me you'll give up fighting."

"But I haven't boxed for 10 years," he explained. "Well, promise me, anyway," she insisted.

He promised. Co-stardom with Jean Arthur is Ron Harper's third series—last season's ill-fated Wendy and Me preceded by 87 Precinct. He has no fears, he says, about the over-shadowing magic of Jean Arthur's acting.

"I thought about it," he admits, "but there's an equitable distribution since we are the only two running characters and, after all, an actor has to act with someone. As I see it, acting with Jean Arthur is a treat, not a trick."

RON HARPER

TV Scout Reports

On the Batman set, Julie Newmar is back playing the Cat Woman. During rehearsal of a scene in which she confronts Batman, Adam West broke up the set and Julie when he slightly mispronounced his line to her, which should have been, "You witch."

In the same episode, there is a wild snatch of dialogue. Batman and Robin are strapped in giant reflectors and a magnifying lens has been coated with oil to broil them with the sun's reflected rays.

"Holy oleo," says Robin. "You never told me you could yodel," says the Cat Woman.

Some filming is taking place at an old theater in downtown Los Angeles, where actors (including Reiner's son, Robert) are on stage portraying a "heavy drama." The dialogue for the play within a play is being spoken with quite precise diction for the play and is very funny. But a new hairdresser on the set, not knowing that the bad acting was on purpose, turned to someone and said, "This is a very bad movie."

Barbara Feldon of Get Smart is wondering about the drinking habits of the man who tends her swimming pool. He told her he also worked for Jack Benny, and that Benny had an octopus in the middle of his pool. Barbara mentioned this to someone who had seen Jack's pool and learned he doesn't have an octopus—just an ordinary swimming pool.

Angie Dickinson, the wife of composer Burt Bacharach, is working at Universal Studios on a segment of Bob Hope Presents the Chrysler Theater for next season. Angie is six months pregnant, and she is playing a pregnant woman. But she is still so thin that she had to be padded for the television role.

It's probably just as well German actor Hans Gudegast is in Spain filming his role as a regular in ABC-TV's new series, Rat Patrol. An ad plugging the show in a Hollywood trade paper spelled his name "Goodagas."

Mary Tyler Moore is a very unhappy young lady right now. She was offered the leading role in the Broadway musical version of "Breakfast at Tiffany's" but her bosses at Universal Pictures wouldn't allow her to accept the role.

One of them was overheard to say, "We're building a movie star, not a Broadway star."

Bob Hope was honored with a "Pacem in Terris" Award from Immaculate Heart College in Los Angeles and when he accepted he said, "I'm so thrilled to get this award and from so august a Catholic organization. I would have thought it would have gone to Peter, Paul and Mary."

Bill Smith, who plays Ranger Joe Riey in Laredo, has been taking guitar lessons for the past two months. "And I'm hung up on the guitar," he says. He figures it will come in handy when he makes rodeo appearances. "Especially when we follow someone like Ed Ames, who is such a great singer."

Wills plays a character named Jim Ed Love, the same role he played in the movie on which the ABC-TV series is based. Governor John Connally of Texas sent Wills a Texas license plate with "LOVE" on it.

The set being used for The Rounders, in which Chill Wills plays a leading role, is the set which was used for the old MGM movie, "Boom Town," in which Wills made his acting debut many years ago.

Lana Wood, who plays Sandy Webber on Peyton Place, says she can't wait for the series to begin filming in color.

"Then I can wear shoes to match my clothes. I'm tired of beige shoes with everything. But—and she made a face—"I'll also have to start wearing lipstick."

Arthur Hill, who starred in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" on Broadway, is in Hollywood playing a scientist on Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea.

He says he hasn't seen the film version of the play yet, because "the lines are still too fresh in my mind. I will see the film when I'm old and gray."

His television set was on in his hotel the other night when a scene from the film came on. "I was out of the room, but suddenly I heard that dialogue and I froze."

Hills says that playing the role was not an emotional drain for him. "It was like exercising every day, once you are in shape, it's easy. Once we solved the problems in the play, the emotion was the audience's. Friends would come back stage after a performance and look like they had been hit in the face, but we were fine."

TV SCOUT REPORTS Hd ... Mary Ann Mobley was dressing to go off for an interview to plug her new television series set for next season when her telephone rang and a friend called to sympathize with her. Mary Ann, a former Miss America, was puzzled about the call until her friend told her the trade papers that morning said she was no longer in the series. And that's how she found out she had been replaced as The Girl From U.N.C.L.E.

Arthur Treacher Versatile Actor

NEW YORK—Arthur Treacher, dining in a splendid, gray four-button summer suit, was trying to figure out how to make his application for Medicare.

It was evident that the 72-year-old announcer on The Merv Griffin Show found such paper and pencil matters a nuisance. In excellent health, and with an eye on a rosy future, he would have preferred to get on with his three, new careers.

Beside his "adding dignity" (Merv said it) to the widely syndicated show, Treacher in the past year also has embarked on organizing a national household service business and has become a recording artist.

Known for years in films as the "perfect butler" since he came to the U. S. in 1926 from England the actor decided to capitalize on all his talents—all at once.

A New York City taxi cab driver gave him the inspiration.

During a ride from his Long Island home where he and Mrs. Treacher (the former Virginia Taylor of Atlanta) have lived for years, the driver told him:

"Butlers are like character actors. They are dying out. Once you, Edward Everett Horton and Charles Ruggles go there won't be any more actors of your kind."

Treacher wasn't convinced other actors couldn't take his place. But he was convinced that the "perfect butler" was no longer available. Even the very rich today are reluctant to hire such help full time.

With a few phone calls, Treacher found he could organize his own maid-butler service, the Call Arthur Treacher Service System. It now has offices in 30 cities, with 1,200 immaculately groomed and trained employees.

"It's funny," Treacher said, "I don't know a blooming thing about the business. I was brought up in the law (he came from a family of barristers) and I gave it up to be a chorus boy."

"I haven't even played a butler that many times on stage or in films. But people think I have and I know more than I do. My system has worked because I was smart enough to hire the right people to see that the job was done properly."

As for his recording career, he and Merv Griffin recently made an album of English pub songs for MGM called, "Alf 'n' Alf."

"A year ago I thought I was destined to partial retirement on a sofa, chatting with Merv and his guests, but all this has changed things hasn't it?" he said, smiling.

Share of Profits Plan for Actors Goes Worldwide

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The demand by actors for a greater share of the profits from their labors has now assumed global proportions.

The issue is pointed up in this month's edition of the Screen Actors Guild magazine. A Guild official, Chester L. Migden reported on the May conference in Stockholm, Sweden, of unionists representing actors in 13 countries, including those behind the Iron Curtain.

Nations participating were Austria, Canada, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Finland, France, Italy, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Sweden United Kingdom and the United States.

The principal concern of the conference was how to provide actors with more returns from the sale of movies to television. As of now American actors are virtually the only ones who receive royalties from television movies. American delegates sought means to stop being undercut by foreign actors.

The high stakes involved are demonstrated by recent sales. Last week ABC bought 16 recent Columbia Pictures releases for a half-million apiece. CBS bought 14 Warner Bros. films at $550,000 apiece.

Migden observed that during a typical week, Los Angeles channels showed 263 old features, of which 45 were foreign-made and hence produced no royalties for actors.

The Stockholm conference brought resolutions for cooperation to assure actors of all nations a return for their appearances on television in movies. How that can be implemented remains to be seen. Film companies may well try to dispose of their backlogs before an international agreement can be implemented.

In any case, the time is not far off when the stocks of feature movies will be virtually depleted. What happens then is television's next big problem.

Andy Williams Show Moves to Prime Time Sunday Spot in Fall

By EDGAR PENTON

HOLLYWOOD—If you happen to be one of several million Americans who consider The Andy Williams Show a Monday night ritual, you've got a slight, though not insurmountable problem.

Andy is to move!

Beginning September 11, his award-winning program will be seen on Sunday nights, 10-11 p. m., Eastern time, following Bonanza.

Students of television ratings system interpret the move as a personal bonanza for Andy. He'll be inheriting a hefty audience. Bonanza consistently ranks among the three most-looked-at programs in the nation.

THE QUESTION before the house is: "Will Bonanza fans remain tuned to NBC after Ben Cartwright and his Ponderosa progeny ride off into the Sunday night sunset?"

NBC decisionmakers apparently feel they will, otherwise they never would have shifted Andy's program. Being a superstitious lot, television executives are well aware of the show business maxim that you "never fool around with success."

And success is precisely what The Andy Williams show has represented to the network since it premiered in 1961. They've long since ceased to record the number of awards won by Andy, his staff members and the program itself.

Marking the advent of Andy's wooden television anniversary on Sept. 11 will be a blockbusting aggregation of guest stars. There'll be Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, The Smothers Brothers, Jonathan Winters and Ella Fitzgerald—one of those "something-for-everybody" assemblages.

For future shows, Andy has guest star commitments from Bing Crosby, Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Jack Jones, Peggy Lee, Al Hirt, Anthony Newley, Bobby Darin, Nancy Wilson, Joey Heatherton, Eddie Fisher, Juliet Prowse, Kate Smith, The Young Americans and Bob Newhart—and more to come.

AS IN PAST YEARS, there'll be appearances by Andy's kinfolk from time to time. The entire Williams Family will be on the Christmas show, invariably an audience favorite. It's very likely that Claudine Longet (Mrs. Andy Williams) will occupy a guest spot on her own on one segment. She's not only blossomed as a fine dramatic actress but also as a vocalist. Just recently she was signed to a recording contract by Herb Alpert, who now owns his own record company.

As to the format of Andy's 1966-67 program—there will be some changes, but none of major proportions.

It will continue to offer a pleasant mixture of music, comedy and dancing.

There will be one more guest star each week than in the past. And the show has a new producer, Edward Stephenson, a former theatrical producer-director and one of Hollywood's most respected art directors.

James Starbuck, a noted New York choreographer, has moved West and will replace Nick Castle. The latter has taken a European sabbatical.

While television continues to occupy a major portion of Andy's time, he somehow continues to expand his sphere of professional activities.

Dale Evans and Roy Rogers are Andy Williams guests on his opening show in a new fall time spot, Sunday evening, September 11, 10-11 p. m., Eastern Time, NBC-TV.

Via his television show and recordings, he has become an international celebrity. The weekly show is syndicated in a large number of foreign countries. There is a never-ending stream of personal appearance requests from these far-away places. Reluctantly, Andy declined an offer to headline a television special in England this summer. There just wasn't time.

Much of his so-called summer vacation has been spent in meeting himself coming and going—but loving every minute of it. He performed to turnaway crowds at Harrah's Club, Lake Tahoe, and is scheduled to open the new multimillion-dollar Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas, Aug. 4.

FAIR DATES are his first love. They allow him to establish that personal contact with the public which performers insist is a "must." When summer ends, he will have made personal contact with audiences in Kansas City, Houston, Portland, Seattle, Minneapolis, Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Long Island.

A news magazine recently called Andy Williams "king of the fair performers," pointing out that his success in that field is due to a basic honesty which projects itself.

Gazzara Still Happy With 'Run'

HOLLYWOOD — A luncheon date with Ben Gazzara can be more revealing than all the statistics compiled by the TV audience rating companies.

A note, via the Chinese waiter, arrived first.

"Flom lady in green hat," the Chinese said with a toothy grin. "Dear Mr. Gazzara" the note read. "My husband would be happy to know I dined at the same restaurant his favorite actor dined at. Kindly sign one of his cards. Thanks."

The attached card identified the lady's husband as an investment broker.

Gazzara signed his name to the card, which the waiter returned to the lady in the "green" hat. The smile she shot back at Gazzara left you wondering just how happy the husband would be — if at all.

It was a Chinese restaurant but Ben had ordered a steak. Before the steak arrived, however, the little girl of about 10 came from across the crowded room to stand beside the table. "Pardon me, Mr. Gazzara," she said, "may I have your autograph. I'm studying to be an actress."

"Already?" Gazzara said with a lifted eyebrow.

"Oh, I don't think I'm too young," she replied.

While Ben signed his autograph, she said her name was Kathy and that she took dramatic lessons for two hours every Saturday Morning.

Kathy left and then the steak came and between bites the star of Run for Your Life expressed amazement about the show's audience appeal to women. "I guess," he said, "they feel sorry for a fellow doomed to die. One survey said the show's widest appeal was to women between the ages of 18 to 45."

So how long will Ben Gazzara, who has always liked variety in his acting, be happy with the show now starting its second year?

"I'd die of boredom if I was playing a lawyer or an FBI man but this show has more of an anthology feeling. Every situation is different, giving you a chance to react differently. But really I don't think I could live with it longer than three years. I'm walking on my knees as it is."

The show is filmed at Universal City, where every day thousands of tourists see the lot in trams with guides announcing the names of stars walking to and from dressing rooms or sound stages or working on the back lot's outdoor sets.

But one name the guides do not announce is Ben Gazzara.

"I told the studio," he grins, "that if they used my name I'd either go home or demand 10 per cent of the tour profits."

It is the reason the trams pass the occasional outdoor sets for Run for Your Life with the guides announcing:

"Look to your right, folks, and you MAY recognize someone you have seen on television."

U.N.C.L.E. READER—Thrush on The Man from U.N.C.L.E. does have a meaning. In the book "The Dagger Affair," it's defined as: Technological Hierarchy for the Removal of Undesirables and the Subjugation of Humanity. — Albert Evans, Portland Oregon.

Thanks. We'll tell Illya and Solo.

Fair audiences are said to have a knack for spotting so-called "phonies," stars who attempt to pass themselves off as something they're not. Such performers invariably fall flat on their fair box offices.

Sandwiched into Andy's summer schedule was a whirlwind trip to Hawaii which, unfortunately was mostly work and no play. NBC paid him the signal honor of headlining the entertainment portion of its affiliates meeting in Honolulu.

AND, EARLIER this month, Andy taped his premiere show for next season, drove immediately to the airport and jetted to Monaco. Prince Rainier and Princess Grace had invited him to entertain at one of Europe's most elegant charity affairs, the Bal Des Petits Lits Blanc.

Fitted somewhere into this treadmill are Andy's recording sessions for Columbia Records. (It's not generally known, but his albums sell at the phenomenal rate of 25,000 per week).

Britain's national pride was dented a few months ago when one of Andy's single records, "Almost There," relegated The Beatles to second place in their charts. Andy has collected seven gold records, representing individual album sales in excess of $1,000,000, and others are steadily approaching that mark.

ANDY'S SCHEDULE might not indicate time for it, but there IS a personal side to Andy Williams. His simplicity of manner sometimes confuses people. He possesses a great deal of sophistication. Last year he purchased a two-story Mediterranean mansion in the exclusive Holmby Hills section bordering Beverly Hills. One of his neighbors is another singer, Frank Sinatra. Andy drives a Rolls-Royce, for which he paid cash, and he's considered a knowledgeable art collector of both painting and sculpture.

The Williamses have two youngsters, a daughter, Noelle Christine, who will be three in September, and a 15-month-old son, Christian Jay.

Andy belongs to the Bel Air Country Club and is a relatively good golfer. He shoots in the low 80s and frequently competed in charity tournaments.

Earlier this year, he and Claudine were introduced to the sport of skiing by Sen. and Mrs. Robert Kennedy and Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy at Sun Valley, Idaho.

FOR A SMALL town boy like Andy Williams, it's suddenly become a big, wide, wonderful world to live in... and he seems to be enjoying every minute of it, especially those 60 minutes every week on NBC.

Obviously Great Savings!

Charles Bickford Going Like 90

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD The bush of wild red hair is now gray but just as wild.

The lines in the face are deeper, making it look even more as if it had been carved out of jagged granite.

But after a 75-year tumultuous life, Charles Bickford still stands and walks tall and rifle erect, looking to the future.

"Retire" he snorts. "Why should I step aside. What would I do? The mind is sharp. Only one trick knee buckles now and then."

When Mrs. Charles Bickford heard the news she was aghast.

The news was that Bickford would join the cast of NBC's The Virginian as a regular in September. He was moving in, with grown grandchildren, as the new boss of Shiloh Ranch. The role in the weekly 90-minute series meant long, strenuous hours at the studio and on locations.

"Why? Why?" Mrs. Bickford wanted to know. And then she announced, "Charles, I think you are out of your mind."

"So," Bickford grinned, "I told her why I wasn't crazy. The idea of being the boss of Shiloh—an empire builder for grandchildren—appealed to me. I could see myself riding around on a big black horse and I was enthused. I've liked The Virginian, had a soft spot for it ever since I played the show in stock companies, 10 different times at least."

The trick Bickford knee had buckled the first time he ran down those stone steps of Shiloh's ranch house for his first appearance in the series.

"I'm walking, not running down those stairs now," he laughed.

A giant shadow on motion picture screens since his film debut in 1929, Bickford has appeared in countless roles—roles he has seldom seen himself perform.

"I never bothered," he explains, "to see most of my pictures. Most of them were very bad. Watching a bad movie is bad enough, but watching yourself act in a bad movie is worse."

There were a few he had seen—"The Song of Bernadette,"

CHARLES BICKFORD

"The Farmer's Daughter," "Johnny Belinda." Good movies, "Bad" television shows never trapped him.

Until now he has appeared on home screens only in such prestige shows as Playhouse 90, the Hallmark Hall of Fame productions.

Playhouse 90 never should have been cancelled, he says. "The show had something sadly lacking on TV today. It was ridiculous to drop a show just because its audience dropped from 30 to 20 million."

He hopes The Virginian will go on for another 15 years.

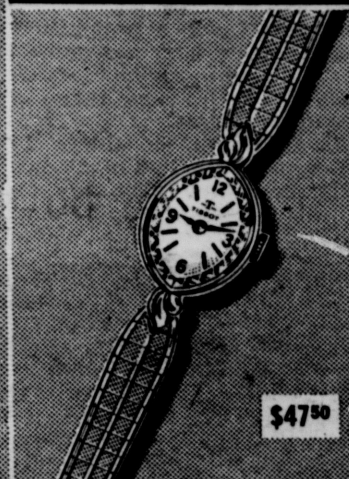

"And I hope I'm still in it," he says.

He would be 90 then. "I'll still be around," he predicts.

Carrier

ROOM AIR CONDITIONER!

All it takes is a touch on the Comfort Control Panel—in seconds you feel coolness flowing your way!

That's how fast a new Carrier Room Air Conditioner responds. Typical, too, of the efficiency engineered into every feature of every model.

You've never seen a line with more patented features. Or handsomer styling. Or greater values.

Come in and look it over today. Models for every purse, every sized room—5500 to 23,500 BTU's. All types: "Do-It-Yourself" . . . Thru-the-Wall . . . Window or Transom! 115-, 208- and 230-volt units.

Ask TV Scout

CORPORAL'S RECORD—Tell us about Larry Storch of F Troop. Is he married?—C. B., S. T., & F. B., Norfolk, Va.
Larry, who plays Corporal Agarn on the ABC-TV comedy series, is a native of New York and is married to Norma Booth, a swimming champion of the late 1940s. His first success was as a night club comic. Later he graduated to television (in 1953-54 he did the Jackie Gleason summer show) and films (they include "Who Was That Lady?", "That Funny Feeling" and "Captain Newman, M. D."). The actor is 5'9", weighs 155 pounds and has brown hair and brown eyes. He and Norma now live in Los Angeles.

FAMILY CODE—The Dick Van Dyke Show is a CALVADA production. Does that mean that the producers are Carl Reiner, Sheldon Leonard, Dick Van Dyke and Danny Thomas?—R. J. B., Homestead, Fla.
Yes. They all own a percentage in the CBS-TV series.

EARLY VIEWER—Why can't Miami get the Merv Griffin Show on at night like every other city? More people could enjoy this entertaining program if it weren't on at 9 a. m.!—Mrs. Linda Watkins, Miami, Fla.

Merv, who is syndicated via the Westinghouse Broadcasting Company, is on at various hours in cities coast to coast. Write to your local station, WTVJ-TV, and request the change.

Not Creative

Don Taylor, who is directing the first episode of The Tammy Grimes Show, "thinks most show titles come 'from someone who is removed from the creative end of television. All they care about is what sells corn flakes. Them Monroes had charm, so it was changed to The Monroes. I directed a pilot called The Sea Wolves which didn't sell—and it was too bad, because it was a good series. But before the pilot even got out the title was changed to Pursue and Destroy."

Back to Reality

Tarzan producer Sy Weintraub gave a party at his home for some visiting members of the press—and the place was really done up with Watasi dancers and animals—including a lion and a chimpanzee — wandering around the party area. One man, standing in the midst of this with a drink in his hand was heard to say "It's so nice, after a hard day's work, to get back to reality."

Meet Dick Sargent

Which Twin Is the Kook?

DICK SARGENT AND TAMMY GRIMES

HOLLYWOOD—Dick Sargent was wearing a light brown suit and what he called a "two-toned" forehead.

He had just returned from an under-the-sun Acapulco vacation more sunburned than tan before starting a co-starring role with Tammy Grimes in the Tammy Grimes Show, a new series on ABC-TV this fall and his third on home screens.

But it wasn't the tropical charms of Acapulco which highlighted his Mexican siesta. His freshest memory from south of the border was watching TV in his Mexico City hotel room and seeing Peyton Place dubbed in the Spanish language.

"Funny, funny," he laughed.

Laughs will be Dick's goal again in the new ABC series in which he and Tammy will play twins. The idea is that she will play a Kookie mis-adventure prone doll, and Dick forever bails her out of wild situations.

"I think," Dick said, "it will be brighter than most TV comedies. We're going for a style of high comedy with some things that haven't been tried before on television. Such as leaving the camera to say something to the audience. Tammy couldn't have been better cast because she IS a kook."

"We made the pilot she had a date across town and we shot so late there was just time for her to keep the appointment. To speed things up, she asked the assistant to bring her car to the sound stage door so she could make a fast getaway. Well, the assistant spent half an hour looking for a green Mustang on the parking lot and he finally found her car — it was a yellow Jaguar. I heard her say 'Oh, yes, I forgot. I came in the Jag this morning'."

A resemblance between the two for the twin casting?

"It's vague," Dick grinned. "Our 'chins are the same and there's the same slant to our eyes, but I'm two feet taller."

Young Sargent said he wasn't unhappy to see the end of Broadside, in which he co-starred with Kathy Nolan. "They wrote me into a pocket and they couldn't get me out. I was happy to see the show end."

The Tammy Grimes show will be filmed at 20th Century-Fox where Dick made his first big hit with Pat Boone in the movie, "Bernardine."

"But after that nothing happened and the studio dropped me," he recalls. A friend on the lot told me not to worry, that I'd be back some day at 10 times my salary. That's just what I'm getting for this TV show now — even if it did take me seven years to get back on the lot."

"I have no complaints. I figure I'm the luckiest actor alive."

Different Design

Producer Hal Kantor, who is turning out four comedies next season for Bob Hope Presents the Chrysler Theater defines TV comedy as follows: "In television, comedy differs from drama in that it is a show designed to make people laugh on purpose."

KAPLAN'S

OF KINGSTON

I had a good night's sleep, and - just as I thought - a Beautyrest!

On your trip, the good nights are on Beautyrest!

I just got back from a trip with 14 nights in 14 different motels and hotels.

I have a sore back, so I'm exceptionally interested in mattresses. The three nights I was really comfortable and got up with a rested back, I made a point of looking at the mattress labels. In every case the mattress was a Beautyrest.

The first day home I bought a Beautyrest. My one-man, traveling mattress clinic paid off. I'm the happiest man alive these mornings, with my new Beautyrest and my new back.

The reason is, Beautyrest springs are absolutely independent each from the other. Each has its own separate fabric container. When one yields it does not drag others down with it. So, your body is not left unsupported where it needs support.

Be kind to your spine. Buy it a Beautyrest TODAY.

Cardinale: A Success Without Trying

By JOAN OROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Claudia Cardinale is a tribute to the persistence of the Italian movie industry.

The beautiful and very capable actress, who has made 28 films in the last eight years, did not want to be a film star.

"I was supposed to be a teacher. I am a teacher, elementary school, but I've never tried to teach," she said, during a stay in New York to promote "Blindfold," a Universal film in which she co-stars with Rock Hudson.

It seems that Claudia, a Tunisian, was entered in a beauty contest held in connection with a charity ball at the Italian Embassy in Tunis. She won the prize as the "Most Beautiful Italian Girl in Tunis," a trip to the Venice Film Festival. She went with her mother, and was immediately spotted by men with an eye for beauty.

"But I refused for six months to be in the movies. I didn't want to be involved. I thought it was a wild and crazy business and everyone talked too much. I don't like a lot of talk. I don't know why I did sign a contract, maybe because they insist so much. But I start in pictures and my first film was such a success I have to continue."

Claudia now likes acting and is a serious, thorough performer who studies the externals of the character she is to play.

"I don't act aloud in my room. I prefer to improvise before the camera. But I like to know everything about the girl, her milieu, the way she can be dressed, how she wears her hair, her make-up. This is all very important because the way she is outside can change the character's gestures or the way she moves."

The one facet of being an international star that Claudia doesn't like is the lack of privacy.

"I have a private life. Even if I am a movie star, I don't want to mix that with work. The only thing I don't want to accept about acting is the fact that an actress has to have public life. I am not going to accept it," she said emphatically.

She is tall, beautifully shaped, relaxed and friendly. Her hair is long, and a lustrous shade of brown. The movie-going public has hardly ever seen it.

"I wear wigs with the long

Next Season Formal

It will be formal on television next season. Pete Duell, of ABC-TV's Love on a Rooftop, will be billed as Peter. (He is Pete in Gidget). Pat Wayne, of The Rounders, will be billed as Patrick, and Mickey Callan of NBC-TV's Occasional Wife, will be called Michael.

Baby Witch

The first new episode of Bewitched will answer the question fans have been asking for several months: Yes, the little baby in the show, the daughter of the Stephens' clan, will turn out to be a witch just like mommy. Maurice Evans is also set for a return appearance as the warlock father of Samantha, played by Elizabeth Montgomery.

hair inside. I think it is better to be different all the time. For 'Blindfold' I thought short hair would be good for the part. Otherwise, she would have to do a chignon, and that would be too old for her." She stopped and smiled. "When I talk of the character I play, I always say

'she'. I never say, 'I was doing' something. I say 'she was doing it.'"

Travel is a favorite pastime, but lately she is finding that even wigs and dark glasses can't keep fans from recognizing her.

"Maybe I am always changing too much," she laughed.

Fred Gwynne Tired of Robot

NEW YORK—Gloom, nearly seven feet of it, settled over the big frame of Fred Gwynne who was discovering it was 'hell to be 40."

The actor, grimly celebrating his birthday in a mid-town bar, confessed he didn't know quite what to do with the rest of his life.

After two years of playing Herman Munster in the CBS-TV series, The Munsters, and in the recently released film, "Munsters Go Home," Gwynne is tired of being a friendly freak.

But as a Harvard graduate and a responsible husband (one wife; two teen-aged children and a new baby) he knows he just can't quit.

"I used to be an actor," he said. "Now I don't know what I am."

Although most television viewers think of Gwynne as the mobster Herman or as the dim-witted cop of Car 54 Where Are You?, his credits also include several Shakespearean plays, meaty films like "On the Waterfront" and Broadway musicals.

Before he listened to the advice of his wealthy New York stockbroker father and went to Harvard, Gwynne was briefly enrolled at Manhattan's Phoenix School of Design.

If he didn't have to make a living, he now confesses, he would just like to hole up someplace and really paint.

"I think I could be a good painter, all I need to do is try. But at 40, a person doesn't have the energy to start something new, does he?" Gwynne will say, hoping his listeners won't believe him.

He remembers when he had daring energy.

After Harvard, he spent six years writing advertising copy on Madison Avenue before he got the get-up-and-go to strike out as an actor.

"I'm not really tired of acting, it just doesn't seem to be enough," says Gwynne. "As Herman, I was beginning to feel like a robot."

At the moment his Munster co-star, Al Lewis, is trying to encourage him to join him in another (so far, untitled) TV comedy series. Gwynne also has several plays and musical offers.

"I just can't make up my mind. Perhaps at 41 it will be easier," he said.

VP's Job

Hal Kantor, a very funny man, spoke to the press at an NBC meeting and discussed the job of network vice presidents. "Somebody once told me a network vice president's job is to sit in an office with a window facing north—and then sound an alarm the minute he sees a glacier approaching. I don't think that's true. I think your average network vice president—and most of them are—sits there looking for new ideas. When he sees one, his job is to throw a glacier over it."

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The peripatetic reporter—

"They're getting married at 5:30 in Las Vegas." There could be no doubt who "they" were: Frank Sinatra and Mia Farrow, natch. But this was early afternoon and Las Vegas was 300 miles away and the airlines were booked solid until Labor Day or the end of the strike, according to which occurred first. The solution: Charter a plane.

Lifts Off Runway

It lumbered off the Burbank runway and headed eastward to the desert. The pilot, who apparently likes weddings, gunned the motor and made the flight in slightly over an hour. Ground temperature: 109.

Much excitement at the airport: Sinatra has landed; Mia's due. The sleek white jet of Sinatra's air taxi company gave evidence that the wedding rumors were true.

The Sands Hotel was buzzing. An armed guard had been stationed outside the presidential suite, which Sinatra customarily occupies. Al Freeman of the Sands issued the rules of the game. The bride and bridegroom would emerge after the wedding for a brief session with the press before departure.

The Sinatras did indeed come out on the porch of the apartment of Jack Entratter, Sands headman. Mia sported her boyish haircut and was a-glitter with diamonds. Frank exhibited more hair—not all of it home-grown—and spoke so affably to reporters he surprised some of them.

Posed for Photos

The couple posed for photos—but not in kissing pose. Then they strolled to a white cadillac, drove to their waiting white jet, and took off for a destination not announced.

There was another story in Las Vegas that day. The apparently accidental shooting of Mrs. Red Skelton. The comedian was in seclusion all day, but he went on with his show at night.

Skelton was ever the clown, joking, mugging and taking falls. He even told about attending the Sinatra wedding.

"The bride took her thumb out of her mouth, and Frank put the ring on her finger," said the comic. As the audience howled, Red added: "Enjoy it now, because you'll never hear it on TV."

Only in his dressing room after the show did Skelton admit his emotional upset over his wife's mishap. The clown cried.

And so back to the plane for the return to reality.
